

Area overpasses, rail, highway changes in MARGE plan

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

New overpasses or underpasses on Route 162 and West Pontoon Road, the elimination of the Illinois Terminal Railroad tracks from McKinley Bridge to Horseshoe Lake, a new railroad spur through nine acres of Lee Park in Venice, a major relocation of Route 3 for the world's largest piggyback yard south of Venice, major expansion of the Madison rail yards, and other changes can be anticipated if funding is arranged for a railroad relocation plan, which is proceeding on schedule.

Public comment is being solicited on a $600 million to $700 million plan to restructure rail traffic patterns through the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area, reducing the anticipated average time will take a rail car to move through this area in the year 2000 from 46 hours to between 29 and 36 hours.

Savings to shippers and the railroads is estimated between $40 million and $67 million per year, in 1990 dollars, according to the planners.

But the project will not be cheap and will pose a burden on many, particularly on those living south of Venice, from Brooklyn to East St.

Louis. That is why the St. Louis Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise (MARGE) is seeking public comment before it decides whether to undergo such a major eight to 10-year project or whether to leave things as they are.

Comments will be accepted through Sept. 21 and may be mailed to Thomas Walsh, executive director, St. Louis Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise, 325 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, Ill., 62201.

Oral comments will be received at public hearings Sept. 9, from 7 to 10 p.m. and Sept. 10, from 3 p.m. until all comments have been heard. The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the East St. Louis center of Southern Illinois University. Fourth and Broadway, East St. Louis.

Copies of the two-volume MARGE draft environmental impact statement, which explains the project in detail and deals with possible environmental effects, residential displacements, and other aspects of the project, will be on public display for two hours prior to each session for those who want to study it in more depth.

Copies of the complete 12-volume environmental impact statement also are available for public inspection in the MARGE office or the Venice Public Library, 325 Broadway, Venice. Partial two-volume copies of the plan can be viewed by making arrangements with Mayor Paul Schuler or by contacting Gary Schneider at the Press-Record.

Basically, the plan calls for removing most railroad tracks and switching yards from the East St. Louis riverfront and combining operations in new or expanded rail yards between Madison and East St. Louis.

Several plans are under consideration, the primary ones being the Two-Yard Plan, which would expand the Madison Yard to the south into Brooklyn and National City, and expand the Gateway Yard to the east into Centerville.

The other major plan is the Three-Yard Plan, which calls for improving the Madison Yard, expanding the Gateway Yard and constructing a new yard near Brooklyn. The Madison yard then would become an industrial support yard while the new yard would handle rail car classification and switching functions.

Also under consideration are the directional plan, to have one yard

Budget tight as school salary pressure mounts

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With rising assessments scheduled to resume Aug. 17 and the start of classes slated Aug. 25, intense financial pressure is being felt by the Granite City School Board, which tentatively approved a $25,941,384 austerity budget Tuesday night.

Many individual employees have discussed the prospect of a strike delaying the fall term.

But all employee groups are negotiating with the district and indicate they are hopeful of reaching new agreements including salary raises.

The amount of salary schedule changes, and the limited time remaining before classes would normally resume, are seen as the chief obstacles to be overcome by negotiating teams.

Appropriations enacted Tuesday night as the board "burned midnight oil" show a rise of only $219,112, with local funds offsetting anticipated decreases in state and federal revenue.

The thick 1981-82 financial document is being described as a "break-even budget" but eventually will reflect a deficit; it does not yet include any allowance for pay hikes other than those resulting from added years of service and from advanced degrees. The budget is to be revised at the time of final approval, at a meeting immediately following a public review hearing Sept. 15.

The district tentatively budgeted $22,344,844 for education, up $352,351; $1,471,949 for operations, building and maintenance, down $366,974; $1,262,600 for transportation, up $131,607; and $722,000 for municipal retirement, up $102,128.

With corporate personal property replacement taxes likely to decrease from $3,244,233 to $2,984,094, levies on real estate are projected to rise from $7,348,903 to $8,238,490.

From $3.371 on each $100 of assessed valuation, school tax rates are expected to total $3.431, up 6.21 cents.

A breakdown of the potential total rate for 1982 collection shows $2.55 for education, up 2.7 cents; 19.8 cents for municipal retirement, up 3.5 cents; 9.21 cents for port immunity, up 0.1 cent; and, the same as for this summer's collection, 37.5 cents for operations, building and maintenance, 12 cents for transportation, 5 cents for life safety

Tax rates, assessments up

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Between rising assessments and generally higher tax rates, Quad-City area taxpayers will be paying more in the next year than they did last summer, the tax rate announced Monday by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles show. A full chart comparing the new tax rates to last year's is on page 7 today.

Miss Bowles said landowners should expect to receive their tax bills the first week in September, based upon the 1980 tax rates (Tax computation and collection are always one year behind.)

The tax rates for residents of all governmental units in the Quad-City area show increases, except in Venice and Madison. In Venice, the overall tax rate dropped from $8.04 to $7.34 per $100 in assessed valuation and in Madison, the rate dropped from $7.18 to $6.60 per $100 in assessed valuation. (The tax rates are rounded off for purposes of clarity. The tax rate chart shows them in their entirety.)

Granite City residents can expect an increase of about a dime this year for each $100 assessed value of their homes, which is traditionally one-third of the fair market value of those homes.

The new tax rate for Granite City is $6.745, up from $6.654 per $100 assessed valuation in the 1979 bills which were collected last summer. The increase would have been higher if the assessed valuation in the city had not risen 20 percent, from $131,271,634 to $158,124,864.

Miss Bowles explained that a $30,000 home in Granite City with an equalized assessment of $10,000 will be billed for $674.50 in taxes this summer. Of that amount, $337.10 will go to School District 9, $158.20 will go to the city, $63.40 will go to the county, $39.80 will go to the Metro-East Sanitary District, $33.30 will be used by Granite City Township, $25.10 will be distributed to the Granite City Park District and $19.60 will help operate Belleville Area College.

A 59 percent increase in the tax rate for the new Madison County sanitary sewers drove the tax rates up for residents of Nameoki and Chouteau Townships. The rate for repayment of the bonds and interest on the local $5 million of the sewer construction cost rose from 82½ cents in the 1979 tax year to $1.31 for 1980, which is being collected this year.

That brought the total tax rate for most Nameoki Township residents up from $6.12 per $100 assessed valuation

United Way drive kickoff Sept. 15

Buddy W. Davis, District 34 Director, United Steelworkers of America will be the feature speaker at the United Way Kick-Off breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 15, in Granite City's Township Building, 2600 Delmar Ave.

District 34 is one of 24 Steelworkers districts in the United States and Canada and covers Southern Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska. District headquarters is in St. Louis.

Davis was born March 6, 1930, in Alton.

BUDDY DAVIS

He was elected district 34 director by referendum in February 1977, and was re-elected for another four-year term without opposition in March this year. He formerly was subdistrict director in Illinois from 1973 to 1977. He was appointed to the international staff in 1962.

He served as president of USA local 3643 at Laclede Steel in Alton from 1957 until 1962 and served as vice-president and steward of the union in prior years.

Davis served as vice-president and executive board member of the Illinois State AFL-CIO. He is co-chairman and executive board member of Illinois State Steelworkers PEC, and is former president of the 23rd district Committee on Political Action, AFL-CIO.

Davis also is a member of the advisory committee of the University Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations. He is on the advisory commission of the Lewis and Clark College labor studies and a member of

$1.25 charge, but hot school lunch to continue

Sack lunches were rejected, at least for the time being, as the menu at Granite City school cafeterias. But the Board of Education, in continuing hot lunches, boosted the price to $1.25 Tuesday night.

Grade school pupils paid 75 cents last year and junior high school and high school students paid 85 cents.

Although acknowledging that the price hike to $1.25 is steep, school officials pointed out that the break-even price would be $1.75, due to food costs, the size of the cafeteria staff, the pay level and the cost of employee benefits.

Some food items on the ala carte menu also were increased in price, but many will remain the same price, including hot dogs, 60 cents, chili 80 cents, barbecue beef 75 cents and cake, 40 cents.

Adults will pay $2 for plate lunches during the 1981-82 year instead of $1.75. Cheeseburgers will rise from 75 cents to $1, chicken from 90 cents to $1, pizza burgers from 75 cents to 90 cents, student chocolate and white milk from nine to 25 cents, and spaghetti with meat sauce from 60 to 85 cents.

The school lunch program was more than $600,000 "in the red" in the 1980-81 year, preliminary figures show.

Employees were praised for their cooperation with efforts to balance the cafeteria budget, and the board decided Tuesday night to lay off 20 members of the lunch staff, reducing the remaining group to 67.

The 20 will be those with least seniority in employment.

Twenty-four jobs are being eliminated; layoffs were limited to 20 because of two retirements and two disability leaves.

The cutback results from a decision to end half-day (four-hour) cafeteria jobs. All work will be done by those employed seven or eight hours.

Many of the 20 may be rehired, depending on the number of retirements that occur, a board discussion showed. Others among the 20 are likely to be chosen for substitute cafeteria work.

Charles E. Beyer, vice-president of Providence Management and Marketing Services, Granite City, was present to review a Granite City school cost analysis made by his firm. Beyer said some reduction in student participation is probable due to the price increase.

A smaller price boost would be possible if the district resorted to sack lunches, he related.

Other cost-cutting moves, including serving several neighboring schools from one nearby school kitchen, have been considered in recent months but have not been acted on.

Expansion of the supervisory staff at high school cafeterias also is under study for possible implementation.

Taking into account the ending of half-day work, Beyer projected yearly revenue of $1,577,032, with operating costs of $1,604,945 and a $27,913 loss in 1981-82.

He estimated payroll costs at $1,115,084, maintenance costs of $50,000, and net food costs of $499,861 ($599,798

East Europeans early settlers, workers here

Imagine trying to make a living at a dangerous job a long way from home, alone, and in a community where you do not understand the language or the ways of your neighbors. That is what happened to many early settlers of Southwestern Illinois.

Just how these people solved their problems either by banding together in organizations that emphasized their Old World customs, or by becoming "Americanized" as quickly as possible — is explained in a study newly completed by the Office of Area Development at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Prepared by Stanley Kimball, professor of historical studies, the study examines the contributions of East Europeans in the economic development of the local area from a historical perspective.

Ethnic groups which have been included in the study include Bulgarians, Croats, Czechs, Hungarians, Lithuanians, Poles, Russians, Slovaks, Slovenes and Ukrainians.

Kimball said the East Europeans largely settled in three areas — in the industrial center of Madison and St. Clair counties, in the coal mining fields of Montgomery and Macoupin counties, and in the rural areas of Perry and Washington counties.

Steel mills, railroad car shops, barrel works, lead works, rail yards and meat packing plants which opened up around the turn of the century lured many people to the industrial areas, where employment opportunities requiring unskilled labor were readily available.

They provided the muscle, the cheap labor which contributed to the rapid industrial development of this area," Kimball said.

Coal mining fields also abounded in jobs for the unskilled. "Some may have drifted in from the St. Louis area. Others moved west from the big coal fields in the eastern part of the United States. And some apparently were 'decoyed' here directly from Europe by unscrupulous mine operators," Kimball said.

According to the Illinois Coal Report for 1893, a number of people of East European descent were enticed to the coal fields of this country by large employers of labor who not only misled them into believing that America was a land flowing with milk and honey, but provided them with steamship transportation to get here.

Kimball said relatively few East Europeans settled in farming areas. A few Czechs settled in Edwardsville. However, it was the people from Poland who most often settled in Southern Illinois, especially in Washington and Perry counties, where they founded two communities, Radom and Posen.

They also settled in Ashley, Nashville, DuBois, Tamaroa, DuQuoin and Todd's Mill.

The study indicates that 159 lodges, 35 churches, eight national halls, eight cemeteries, 10 schools and two newspapers, as well as many local religious, cultural and political societies, were established in Southwestern Illinois by East Europeans.

"The early, first-generation immigrants tried hard to maintain their Old World life style and customs, and attempted to pass them on to their children," Kimball said.

"To this end, they built many churches; founded lodges, religious, physical and cultural societies, schools and cemeteries; celebrated traditional holidays; held parties, dances and festivals; dressed in costumes; preserved Old World cuisine and languages; established bookstores; organized musical groups; published newspapers; and sponsored radio programs.

"Fraternel and benevolent societies were especially important and popular, not only for social activities, but particularly because through such societies workers in dangerous occupations could secure the annuities and life insurance policies regular insurance companies would not write."

These lodges, along with the churches and other ethnic societies, he said, helped East Europeans to "Americanize" their countrymen, and advance them both economically and socially, while at the same time allowing them to preserve their ethnic identity and heritage.

In his report, Kimball discusses some of the experiences of the early settlers.

A colony, predominantly male, settled in Granite City,

Madison and East St. Louis about the turn of the century, he notes.

"There were only four family units among more than 5,500 Bulgarians. All the rest were bachelors, or men who had left their families in the old country until they could afford to send for them," Kimball said.

"Out of this curious situation grew what was called the bachelor boarding program. Ten to 20 men would band together and rent a small house or apartment called a 'boort.'"

"Such a group might hire a woman to cook and wash, but the 'boarding boss' kept accounts, ordered provisions, collected money and paid the bills.

"The story of the early boarding house is only one of many stories of early settlers chronicled in the report."

"Many of the children and grandchildren of the original immigrants still live here and hold responsible positions in business, education, industry and other types of work," Kimball relates.

"Although many of the ethnic societies and institutions still exist today, the history of East Europeans in Southwestern Illinois suggests how fragile ethnicity and Old World traditions can be.

"This part of the history and life of our region needs to be better studied, preserved and fostered."

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO MEET SEPT. 11-13
Bob Tinslin, state chairman of the Young Republicans of Illinois, has announced that the 1981 Young Republican state convention will be held Sept. 11 to 13 at the Holiday Inn in Mount Vernon. More than 150 are expected to attend.

The state Young Republican banquet Saturday evening, Sept. 12, is expected to draw more than 350 participants, and a speaker of national prominence.

Budget tight

(building, modernization) and 5 cents for working cash.

A statement by Superintendent B. J. Davis, who was on vacation, said, "This has been a very difficult budget to assemble due to the normal lack of information on state and federal funding and also due to the change in our financial administration."

"Due to the abilities and diligence of new Director of Finance Norman S. Owca and a multitude of other staff members, the task has been completed and represents a reasonable estimate of the financial picture for the coming year."

"It is not a picture of unlimited funds, which would allow us to do many desirable things. In fact, many needed expenses will require us to continue to borrow money to finance them."

"Revenue from state and federal sources is projected to be less this year than in the year just concluded—due to the state's financial problems and the federal effort to reduce expenditures."

"Local revenues are expected to increase due to higher assessed valuations but are projected, at best, to only offset the loss of money from state and federal sources."

"Due to the late tax collection experienced in Madison County this year, we had to borrow for operations, increasing the amount of interest we must pay. This money will not be available now to help pay bills and salaries."

"The board is acutely aware of the steps taken to keep expenditures reasonable while still offering numerous quality education programs for the pupils."

"The staff has been decreased, buildings closed and consolidated with other buildings, and the curriculum redesigned to lower the number of courses while including the best of discontinued courses in other courses."

"Further cost containments are being pursued. We have been working, and will continue to work, at the state and federal levels to obtain additional revenues and seek relief from mandated programs that are not accompanied by sufficient levels of funding," Davis concluded.

Owca praised the help given him by Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus, Employee Relations Administrator Harold Hillmer and members of the business office staff.

Owca told the board, "Projected levies are based on an assessment of $240 million, a ten percent increase from $218,003,655, assuring maximum extension of our rates."

"The rates cannot be increased, as we are levying the maximum for all funds except for municipal retirement and tort liabilities. These two could rise or fall, depending on the actual assessed valuation."

"Corporate replacement taxes are expected by the Illinois Department of Revenue to decrease by eight percent. Several unknowns will affect education revenue. At this time, we have not received any printouts as to the amount we will receive based on the state aid formula, but we feel the estimate will be quite close."

"Besides a reduction in most state and federal funding for specific programs, a big unknown is the revenue for our lunch program," the finance director said.

"Based on the information we have, our overall revenue on the accrual side will be $21,592,135 for education, up $33,065 over the amount budgeted in 1980-81."

"Other accounts showing an increase in gross revenue are transportation, $70,026, municipal retirement $104,336 and working cash, $9,100 over the budget amount."

"The operations, building and maintenance fund shows a decrease of $160,588 because of our transfer and usage in 1980-81 of the remaining $233,600 in the (construction) bond and interest fund."

"Total instructional costs are reduced by $301,642 compared to the 1980-81 tentative budget, due to declining enrollment, curriculum consolidations, elimination of part of the Title I program, reduced secretarial and teaching positions, and elimination of two assistant principal positions."

"Fixed charges have a projected rise of $287,952, with the appropriate accounts to be adjusted after contract negotiations are settled. The largest areas of increase reflect our experience of growing workers' compensation costs and increasing health insurance claims."

"The other large increase is interest that must be paid for tax anticipation warrants because of late tax collections."

"Summer school has a projected decrease of $1,000—maintaining summer school the same as before but reducing materials and supplies."

"Textbook expenditures are reduced by $35,162 due to maximum participation in the Illinois Textbook Plan."

"Lunch program budgeting shows a decrease of $155,000 from instituting Plan A (eliminating half-day cafeteria jobs). An unknown factor is the actual food and supply cost, depending on student participation."

"Cash flow and projected tax warrants are difficult to project due to uncertainty over when various revenues will be received. However, based on this tentative budget, it will be necessary to borrow about $2 million."

"Our budget shows us having a cash balance on June 30, 1982, of $845,252. The reason is that we normally receive our last state aid payment after the final certificated employee payroll in June."

On the recommendation of Owca and the Quad-City special education board, the Granite City Board of Education tentatively adopted a $38,115 special education budget for 1981-82, an increase of $20,130.

Cotaining $70,610 for administration, $229,255 for instruction, $5,050 for operations, $24,700 for fixed charges, $4,500 for capital outlay and $5,000 for contingencies, this budget also will be the subject of a public hearing Sept. 15.

Hearings also will be held this fall if any new tax levies show an increase of five percent over the amount levied for that fund a year ago. Likely possibilities include all the funds—education, building, transportation, retirement, life safety, working cash and tort immunity."

Hog caller practices while driving to work

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

If recently you've heard a series of loud snorts, grunts and squeals coming from a passing auto driven by a respectable looking man, it wasn't your imagination, nor was the ear-splitting racket produced by a discordant stereo....it was just Bob Braundmeier practicing. Braundmeier, 42, took his voice to the Illinois State Fair in Springfield this week and came home with runner-up honors in the state "hog calling" contest.

He has been intrigued with hog calling ever since he heard the skill demonstrated as a child while on visits to an uncle's farm.

"So, about six years ago I thought what the heck, I'll try it."

Braundmeier picked up the technique on his own, but he also listened to other callers in various contests.

"The hardest part is finding somewhere to practice," he confided Tuesday.

Braundmeier discovered the most solitary and least bothersome place to rehearse his ear-rendering calls was inside his car on the way to work.

"With the windows closed," he added.

He's not getting discouraged by taking second place in the Illinois State Fair competition, it's just happened that way for two consecutive years.

Last August, he was runner-up to the 1980 champion hog caller, Frank Greenwald of Granite City.

Frank retired while he was on top, Braundmeier noted.

This year's first place award went to Clifford Hayes of Virden, Ill., who finished third in 1980.

Braundmeier, 2228 Nevada Ave., is a letter carrier for the U.S. Postal Service in Granite City.

No, he doesn't rehearse while making his appointed rounds, neither does he alarm neighbors by letting out one of his strident calls in the basement.

But if you happen to see a neat looking man in a light grey shirt happily yelling his head off while driving to work...don't worry.

The motorist isn't in pain. It's just Bob Braundmeier calling imaginary hogs for practice.

$14,775 in fines are received here

Fines totaling $14,775 collected by Madison County during July have been distributed to governmental bodies in the Quad-City area. Granite City received $10,205 from the fines, Madison and Pontoon Beach got $1,980 each and Venice received $610.

Edwardsville led the cities with fines totaling $12,015, Alton was second with $11,755, followed by Granite City.

A total of $193,359 was distributed by Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell from July fines. The county government received $62,768, the state received $54,096 from overweight trucks, the Department of Conservation received $705 from fines and the Commerce Commission received $420.

Signs solar energy bill

Legislation empowering municipalities to protect their right of access to solar energy was signed into law last week by Governor James R. Thompson.

"One of the unique problems of solar energy is that a consumer could build a solar energy system only to have the sun blocked out by a new building," Governor Thompson said in signing the legislation at the Solar Expo tent at the Illinois State Fair.

"This law grants non-home rule communities the power to regulate or forbid such occurrences in protection of the consumer," the governor said. Planning commissions also are permitted to recommend such regulations under the new law. Home rule municipalities already have such powers.

"When Illinois passed its Comprehensive Solar Energy Act in 1977, which prepared the legal groundwork for solar energy in our state, we recognized that it would be necessary to phase in new solar-related legislation over time to protect the consumer," Thompson said. "This is an important step toward that goal."

With solar energy increasingly being used across the state, the potential problem of obstructions to solar access also has grown. Currently, such problems can be dealt with only through the judicial system or through privately negotiated agreements between neighbors, except where home rule communities already have established protective regulations.

"This legislation," Governor Thompson emphasized, "will enable communities to plan for solar access before problems develop."

New school roofs, scoreboard

New roofs and a scoreboard are being obtained following a windstorm that hit Granite City High School South at 3:20 p.m. July 20.

The School Board on Tuesday night authorized complete reroofing of the South auditorium. About half of that roof was damaged, with insurance providing $4,000 for replacement. That money and another $3,600 to $4,000 will be spent for a new deribum roof over the entire auditorium.

All of the damaged upper cafeteria roof is being removed, with deribum applied, at a cost of $23,000, all covered by insurance.

On the lower cafeteria roof, debris from the upper roof struck roof sections, causing $8,000 damage. Instead of using this money for patching and repair work, it will be applied toward a total reroofing cost of $19,725.

South's slate roof was damaged in four areas. This is being repaired at a cost of about $4,000, using an improved way of clipping on the slate pieces, School District Maintenance Supervisor Ronald Landman told the board.

Work is being done by Biebel Brothers Roofing Co. Leuders Agency is the insurance firm.

Landman related, "The wind destroyed the scoreboard on the football field. The wind then continued in a southern direction, destroying two-thirds of the upper roof of the cafeteria building."

"Scattered debris on the lower section and over the dining and kitchen areas, damaging various sections of the roof."

"The wind also damaged the high part of the auditorium roof and many areas of the slate roofs on surrounding school buildings. Slate from the roof hit and damaged cars owned by Thomas Holloway and Thomas Noeth."

Insurance on the scoreboard was a $5,000 deductible policy. The scoreboard will be replaced, with the local cost paid by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Alton.

In other business, a report Tuesday night's board meeting showed that boiler replacements at eight schools in 1980 saved $39,287 in yearly fuel costs—$67,000 in 1980-81 instead of the 1979-80's cost of $106,287.

Emerson, Frohhardt, Logan, Marshall, Mitchell, Nameki, Niedringhaus and Webster elementary schools were changed from oil to natural gas for heating of the buildings.

Landman related, "At the present time, we are paying 87.5 cents for No. 5 oil and $1.17 for No. 2 oil. This would have cost us $140,284 in 1981-82, meaning we would be saving $73,284 this year if it remains the same price."

Over the objections of Board Member David Partney, the board designated Reeb's Quality Dairy Center to provide school cafeteria milk during the 1981-82 school year.

He also waged a similar fight after selection of Reeb's in 1980-81, urging a switch to Prairie Farms Dairy as a major local company, employer and taxpayer. Prior to a year ago, Prairie Farms was the school supplier.

Nine dairies were invited to bid this summer, and only two responded.

O. L. Overhuler, director of food services for the school district, said, "Based on the fact that our federal subsidy of milk powder arrived and we now will not need whole milk for baking, Reeb's was a low bidder."

"Last year, we sold 286,328 half-pints of 2 percent white milk and 788,307 half-pints of 2 percent chocolate milk."

"Assuming the sales will be the same, the district will save $229 on sales of 2 percent white and 14.5 percent chocolate milk and $394 on sales of chocolate milk."

Reeb's and Prairie Farms bid, on half-pints in paper cartons and with coolers, 11.9 and 11.98 cents on 2 percent white, 12.9 and 12.95 cents on 2 percent chocolate, 14.5 and 13.95 on chocolate and 13.5 and 12.98 cents on white.

A written opinion by School Attorney William W. Schooley said, Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 122, Section 10-20.21, provide, "To let all contracts for supplies, materials or work involved in any expenditures in excess of $2,500, the lowest responsible bidder after due advertisement."

"The board should determine whether the bids submitted were to specifications, and whether they were by responsible bidders. After a review of the specification bids, it is my opinion that the bids were according to specification."

6 show interest in 3 school board posts

With candidate filing scheduled to start next week, six persons have obtained petitions for election in November to the Granite City Board of Education.

Three positions are to be filled, two for four years and one for two years.

The three incumbents, President Thomas Miosky and Board Members Monroe Worthen and Dewey Melton, have indicated interest in seeking new terms.

Also with petitions are Raymond McGee, Doug Gargac and Mrs. Valerie Stevens, a Madison teacher and the wife of City Clerk Robert Stevens of Granite City.

McGee, Mrs. Stevens and Melton, a former board member, are among those applying for appointment to a board vacancy this year; Melton was chosen for the position June 9.

Three held in shooting

Venice police are holding three men for investigation of an alleged shotgun shooting at 4:05 p.m. Wednesday of John Brown from East St. Louis.

According to a police spokesman, Brown was driving away from a home in the 400 block of Broadway and told police he had just been shot.

The spokesman said the victim did not seem to be hurt seriously and went to St. Mary's hospital in East St. Louis for treatment.

Venice police are holding two men charged with aggravated battery, armed violence and unlawful use of a weapon, and one man charged with giving false information and no firearms identification.

St. Louis police have warrants on two of the men charging them with "flourishing a deadly weapon."

The evidence is a 12 gauge shotgun believed to be the weapon used.

handle eastbound traffic and the other handle westbound traffic, or the big directional plan, in which both yards route traffic in all directions.

According to Thomas P. Walsh, executive director of MARGE, the project has been given a priority for a portion of the $110 million in railroad bond options expected to be approved this year for the railroad's rehabilitation throughout the United States.

An attempt by the U.S. House of Representatives to reduce that amount to $6.5 million was rejected by the Senate and a joint conference committee has agreed to submit the full $110 million appropriation for approval.

"MARGE was listed as a worthy project named in the bill, which is a good shot. So, if we are to ask for money, it would be $50 million for the start of construction," Walsh explained.

Additional funds, in the form of railroad preference shares, would be sought in each subsequent year of the project, which is expected to take eight to 10 years to construct.

The preference share program amounts to a loan with 2.5 percent annual interest. The government purchases preferred stock in railroad companies and the railroads commit the revenue from the stock to the renovation of decrepit facilities.

The railroads must begin buying back the shares from the government after 10 years and can repurchase them over a 30-year period.

What would $600 million in improvements to the rail system mean to the Quad-City area? The answer is complex and some residents may have to accept the good with the bad if the project becomes reality.

At the time of the plan, calls for grade separations (overpasses or underpasses) on Route 162 at the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks on the southeastern corner of the city, near the intersection of the city's main street, West Pontoon Road at the "Q" corridor, which is just west of the city center.

Under the Three Yard plans, three grade separations also are called for on Route 111. One would be at the less the $99,937 value of commodities received.

Beyer related, "In order to break even, if $287,913 in additional revenue had to be generated from the Type A lunch plate, 49.8 cents more would be required for each of 578,676 meals, resulting in a price of $17.5."

Board members expressed a desire to make the school lunch program self-sustaining, rather than utilizing funds for it that otherwise could be devoted to meet educational costs. But they acknowledged that this goal cannot be attained immediately.

In addition to the price boost, other ways of equalizing income and costs will be explored, it was decided. A study of progress and problems is planned in late October.

Beyer said, "Implementation of a sack lunch program in the junior highs and elementary schools would reduce the average food cost of a Type A lunch from 60.62 cents to 53.79 cents, based on numerous AFL-CIO committees and conferences.

southeastern tip of Horseshoe Lake north of Interstate 70-55, the second would be at Collinsville Road in Fairmont City and the third would be at Forest Boulevard in Washington Park.

Another is planned east of Washington Park and there are five overpasses projected for the Dupu and East St. Louis areas.

A major relocation of Route 3 will be necessary on the proposed piggyback yard can be built in the National City area. There are three alternative plans being studied for moving Route 3.

And along the "Q" corridor, past Bend Road and Brooklyn and turning back to the east near the Rose Lake Corridor north of East St. Louis, where it will rejoin the current Route 3.

Now, Route 3 turns south onto Fourth Street in Venice and goes through Brooklyn.

Another proposal affecting Venice is to run a new rail line from the Merchants Bridge Corridor (the Highline) southeast through a corner of Lee Park into the "Q" corridor, taking about nine acres, as the new park.

With the approval of the Venice Park Board, the nine displaced acres would be replaced with comparable acreage and making up their goods, costs and shipping time would rise. "Each of these would negatively impact the economy of the St. Louis area and the overall efficiency of the national transportation system," the report states.

It is estimated by the year 2000, if the MARGE plan is in effect, reduction of the average time needed to move rail cars through the Gateway by 22 to 37 percent, will result in a reduction of annual costs to carriers of between $40 million and $67 million (in 1980 dollars).

If a 25 percent reduction in time needed to get through the Gateway is achieved, it would have the effect of adding 200,000 additional freight cars to the nation's fleet, by making the cars available more often for new shipments and making up an average of 60 percent of their lives in rail yards, according to the U.S. General Accounting Office.

Also, "a considerable interchange of trailers between one rail carrier's yard from 90 cents to $1.35, based on a new survey.

A letter from Robert E. Ohlzen, manager, Food and Nutrition Programs, Illinois State Board of Education, related that as of Jan. 1, 1981, it is "no longer necessary to receive prior authorization from this office before raising your school lunch price."

"Regardless of the price you charge, income cannot exceed program costs. Income in excess of program cost could result in a loss of reimbursement. This also applies to school breakfast programs and the special milk program."

Acting on a bid opened during the meeting, the board designated Open Kitchens of Granite City as the 1981-82 source of supply for certain types of sandwiches heated and sold by school cafeteria staffs. A price list was outlined, but no specific quantities were decided upon for purchase.

Before deciding to set the student lunch price at $1.25, board members noted that prices charged at other schools in Illinois and Missouri vary

City Council approval of an industrial pretreatment program at Granite City treatment plant will be sought in the Aug. 25 meeting of the council by Terrence W. McMillan, superintendent of the plant.

In a letter to Mayor Paul Schuler, McMillan has requested time to outline the program to council members and has asked that such a program be given approval.

The purpose of the presentation is to explain the pretreatment program, offer information on federal and state regulations, discuss the progress of the Granite City program, and answer questions.

The pretreatment program involves gathering of data on industrial discharges that may be interfering with the operation of the city wastewater treatment plant.

An evaluation of program costs will be made, an industrial waste ordinance presented, a program user charge ordinance presented, and a monitoring program established, McMillan said.

The above rates are listed in such a way as to affect the majority of property owners in the separate taxing areas. For taxpayers living within the boundaries of different governmental agencies, the overall rates will vary accordingly.

Persons living in the Long Lake Fire District, for example, should add 30.2 cents (same as last year) to other rates in Nameoki Township to determine their local combined rate. Those in the Miracle Manor-Bellemeor Place Lighting District should add 12.5 cents (same as last year). In State Park Place, taxpayers of the lighting district should add 25 cents and those in the fire district should add 30 cents.

The tax of 82.5 cents for sewers pertains to those in the special service area number one, which includes much of Nameoki and Chouteau townships, but only a small portion of Venice Township. Township residents not in the sewer district should subtract the $1.314 sewer rate from their overall rate.

Venice Township residents who live in Granite City School District 9 should apply that school rate instead of the Venice District 3 rate. In all cases, the overall rate can be determined by adding the rates of governmental districts in which the taxpayer lives.

The overall rates are applicable to each $100 assessed valuation.

Tax rates

in 1979 to $6.526 for 1980. That means that the owner of a $30,000 house will pay $652.60 in taxes this summer. Township residents living outside of the sewer district may deduct that $1.31 sewer district residing within the Long Lake Fire Protection District should add 30.2 cents to their rates.

For Venice Township residents, the tax bills should be up from $6.38 per $100 assessed valuation last year to $6.58 in September. Those residing in the special sewer district will have to pay $1.31 more and those in school districts other than the Venice School District have to adjust their rates.

For example, Venice Township residents in the Madison School District may subtract 71.9 cents from their tax rate, since that is the difference between the rates of the Venice and Madison school districts.

Most Chouteau Townships will pay

$6.51 per $100 assessed valuation, up from $5.60 last year. (The figures are again rounded off.) That will be the rate for those in the sewer district and in Granite City School District 9. Those in school districts 1, 7 or 15 or high school district 14 will have their rates adjusted by the county clerk.

They also will be taxed for fire protection if they are in the Mitchell Fire Protection District or the South Roxana Fire Protection District, which carry a rate of 30 cents each per $100 assessed valuation.

Those in the Lewis & Clark Community College District will have to pay more since the rate for that college district is 11.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation higher than the Belleville Area College rate.

Civic Memorial Airport will collect 11.4 cents per $100 assessment for those in that district, and those in the Roxana Park District will have to pay 15.2 cents for that privilege.

Bolstered by 13 percent increase in the assessed valuation of the county, the Madison County government was able to hold to the same tax rate as last year, 63.4 cents per $100 in assessed valuation.

The county's assessed valuation rose from $1,068,071 in 1979 to $1,207,018.468 in 1980, a rise of $138,946.622, according to Miss Bowles.

She said the county board's legislative committee has rejected the idea of sending out early estimated tax bills, an accelerated billing system used by some other counties.

It had been suggested that next year, the county send out a tax bill of about half of the tax early in the year, due by about March 1, and that a second, adjusted bill be sent out later in the year, when the final tax amount has been determined.

Computer costs alone for an extra round of billing were estimated at $50,000 and the costs of postage, envelopes, printing, stuffing and other costs for 103,000 extra bills would drive that amount considerably higher.

The taxes will be applied against adjusted assessments, which have been increased, in most townships, by county-imposed multipliers. The township multipliers were successful in keeping the state from imposing a county multiplier on all Madison County properties.

Multipliers are, as the name implies, to be multiplied against the assessment of every property to determine the valuation against which tax rates will be applied to determine the tax bill.

Quad-City area multipliers were 1.229 for Granite City Township, 1.1275 in Venice Township, and 1.2146 in Chouteau Township. Nameoki Township received a negative multiplier of .933, which will reduce the taxes somewhat.

BAC enrollment well ahead of '80

With more than two weeks of registration still to go, Belleville Area College enrollment for fall is topping last year's.

At the close of business on Aug. 6, a total of 6,593 students had enrolled for 58,945.5 hours of class. That is a 38 percent increase over the 4,757 who had enrolled by the same time last year, and a 30.47 percent rise in credit hours.

The early enrollment hike is indicative of a trend that has seen BAC's student population grow steadily since the fall of 1977, a spokesman said.

"During that semester, there were 9,500 students; by spring 1980, about 12,000 were enrolled at the college. Classes will begin Monday, Aug. 24.

Students are visiting the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, from now through Aug. 19.

Registration for credit courses is taken from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each Monday through Aug. 19.

Registration for non-credit, self-improvement general studies courses can be completed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday in Room 126 at the main campus; in the second-floor registrar's office from 5 to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday; and at the scheduled registration dates for each campus.

Classes will begin Monday, Aug. 24.

Hospitals sue to ban Medicaid cuts

The Illinois Hospital Association and a federal district court to enjoin Governor James R. Thompson's first round of Medicaid cuts.

The suit seeks relief from the state's initial caps on public aid reimbursement for Medicaid patients in emergency room and clinic services, as well as payment for General Assistance (GA) and Aid to the Medically Indigent (AMI) inpatient care.

Twenty-four hospitals in the state, including nine plaintiff hospitals, said they are severely affected by those caps and that they will lose $35.9 million from the Medicaid cap and $19.7 million from the GA-AMI cap over the next year.

IHA's suit includes procedural arguments concerning rule-making and a constitutional claim relating to GA-AMI recipients.

Propose procedural change in deception detection

The Illinois Department of Registration and Education, which licenses and regulates detection of deception examiners (sometimes referred to as polygraph examiners), is proposing extensive procedural changes in the methods used in operation of the detection of deception equipment.

Department Director Gary L. Clayton said the current rules are being repealed and new rules proposed in order to clarify the department's policies and procedures, and to conform to changes recommended by the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules.

A public hearing on the proposed rule changes has been scheduled for 11 a.m. August 19, in the department's offices on the 17th floor at 17 North State St., Chicago.

Oral testimony will be limited to 10 minutes per person. Written copies of oral testimony should be provided at the hearing.

Persons wishing to submit written comments may send them to Kimerlee Petrik in the department's office at 320 W. Washington St., Springfield, 62786.

The deadline for submitting written testimony is September 21.

Proposed changes include requirements for persons wishing to teach detection of deception methods; deletion of the prohibition on advertising fees; and a provision requiring the examiners to regularly calibrate instruments used in the examination.

Also proposed are new rules dealing with the application for licensure; credit for equivalent training; a more specific description of the content of the required six-month course of study; and the rights of prospective subjects.

Detection of deception examiners are one of 32 professional and occupational groups licensed and regulated by the department. Currently, a total of 237 detection of deception examiners hold active licenses in Illinois.

Construction bidding seminar set at SIUE

The Center for Management Studies will conduct four after-hours seminars to help construction managers estimate bids and minimize risks and costs beginning Aug. 25 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The four sessions, developed for small and minority business managers, are sponsored by the Metro-East Business Development Center and the Metro-East Conference of Black Mayors.

Luke M. Snell, SIUE construction professor and area business consultant, will lead the workshops on Tuesday and Thursday evenings through Sept. 3. He is a registered engineer in five states and has experience in construction trouble-shooting both in the United States and Saudi Arabia.

Snell said he will use actual construction projects to teach managers to prepare bids. He will also help them run the project to get higher production and profit at less cost and risk to the company.

The seminar will meet at 6:30-9:30 p.m. in Building III, Room 3335, on the Edwardsville campus. For additional information, or to complete registration forms, contact Ponda Jones, Metro-East Development Center.

Direct deposit of Security checks

"The direct deposit of Social Security checks provides a valuable service to beneficiaries," District Manager Oliver Holmes told the Press-Record this week. Under the program, Social Security or Supplemental Security Income checks are deposited directly into a checking or savings account at a bank or other financial institution, instead of being mailed to the person. Holmes commented, "Direct deposit has a number of advantages. Most important, perhaps, is the fact that the possibility of loss or theft of a check is eliminated. "Moreover, absence of the person from the home—whether for an extended vacation or simply for the day—no longer is a need for concern. The check is credited automatically to the individual's account. "Direct deposit also saves time by doing away with the need to wait for mail to be delivered, or to wait in line to cash a check. "The program is completely voluntary and people can select the financial organization they wish to do business with. It can be a commercial or savings bank, a savings and loan association, a credit union, or similar institution. "Those who already have a savings or checking account can arrange for direct deposit where they currently transact their business. "Since not all financial organizations operate in exactly the same fashion, people might want to compare what each offers. "For example, banks must notify people each month whether their directly deposited checks have been received and credited to their accounts or not. And some guarantee that the amount of the monthly check will be credited to the account on a specific day, whether or not it is actually received. "Some, but not all, financial institutions offer free checking as an inducement for the direct deposit of checks. In many cases, this not only means no service charge, but free checks as well. Other organizations may charge a service fee or require a minimum balance in the account. Because of these differences, it may be advisable to shop around before deciding which financial institution to use. "The mechanics of arranging for direct deposit are simple. "Form SF-1199, which can be obtained from the bank or other group selected, must be completed. The direct deposit of checks will begin about 90 days after Social Security receives the form.

If at any time a beneficiary decides to change from one financial organization to another, all that is required is completion of another Form SF-1199. Direct deposit can be terminated simply by notifying the Social Security office. "Use of direct deposit does not eliminate the need to advise Social Security of a change of address. "In addition to benefit checks, notices about cost-of-living increases, changes in the annual earnings test, and other items of interest to beneficiaries are mailed out periodically," Holmes noted. "Direct deposit of checks gives beneficiaries an opportunity to do themselves a favor at no cost. "Additional information about the program can be

Ear infection can cause hearing loss in children

By MARY RICHARDS
Otitis media, an inflammation of the middle ear, is the most frequent cause of hearing loss in children. Fluids, caused by the infection, back up in the middle ear, and pressure builds up on the eardrum. This can cause severe earaches. The ear drum may break from the pressure, causing the middle ear to drain. A mild hearing loss may result. There is also a danger of the infection spreading into the mastoid bone, and this can lead to permanent damage to the middle ear. Antibiotics are very effective in clearing up the infection of otitis media. A decongestant is also frequently used to cut down on the production of fluid. If surgery should become necessary, the doctor performs what is called a myringotomy (mir in go to me). A small cut is made through the eardrum which allows the fluid to drain out of the middle ear and relieve the pressure and the pain. The operation is performed through the outer ear canal. Most people have it done in the doctor's office or on a hospital out patient basis.

The doctor may put a tiny plastic tube through the ear drum for fluid drainage. If a tube is placed in the ear, generally, the doctor will advise you not to go swimming or take showers until healing is completed. The tube almost always comes out by itself anywhere from two weeks to two years after surgery. As the opening in the eardrum heals, the tube is naturally pushed out. Sometimes, though, the doctor has to remove the tube, so the patient should be seen by the doctor every two or three months while the tube is in the ear. Otitis media can recur. It seems to clear up, and then a few months or even years later the infection returns. But, sometimes, it clears up and never returns. Otitis media can be a mild disease or a serious threat to your child's hearing, depending on whether the infection is properly treated. Usually, once the infection has been drained out of the ear, normal hearing is restored. But, if the infection isn't cleared up or keeps recurring, there is less chance that hearing will return to normal. Therefore, appropriate medical treatment is essential. If you have questions about otitis media, contact the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Health Promotion and Screening, Vision and Hearing Screening Program, 535 West Jefferson, Springfield, IL 62761.

One scholarship went to Mary Ellen Gnojewski of Madison, who is a senior student at St. Louis University. The remaining five scholarships were presented to high school graduates who plan to enter college this fall. They include Brenda DeHart who is enrolled at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., Steven W. Gibson for the University of Missouri at Rolla, Bridgett McNew, Western Illinois University at Macomb, Ill., Tom Longos at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, all residents of Granite City, and to Michael G. ## Dance to benefit MOD

A former U.S. Navy hospital corpsman from Granite City, now an aspiring country music singer, is among the candidates for March of Dimes queen in a nine-county area served by the Metro-East MOD Chapter.

Gwendolyn "Gwen" Stratton, 22, is one of 11 candidates seeking to become MOD queen in an area-wide contest.

Winner of the contest will be the candidate raising the most money for the March of Dimes and Gwen is planning her first MOD benefit event—a dance—on Friday, Aug. 28, from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight, at St. Mary's Englebert Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison.

The public is invited to attend the dance and support the March of Dimes.

Tickets are now available, costing $5 each, by calling Mary Stratton, 877-2489, Cindy Thompson, 931-4244, Vada Krajnovich, 432-0472 or the contestant at 451-9893.

All proceeds from the event will be contributed to the Metro-East March of Dimes Chapter, which serves the Quad-Cities.

The total amount also will be credited toward Gwen's quest for the title of MOD Queen, it was explained.

Entertainment at the Aug. 28 dance will be provided by the Glen Crossing Band, a group of talented musicians with whom Gwen performs locally and throughout Central Illinois.

She also appears solo at Sonny's and Char's on Highway 157 at Interstate 55-70.

The local MOD Queen candidate was born Nov. 25, 1958, in Granite City and is one of five children.

Gwen said, "I was reared in a home always filled with music and I am a true believer and devotee to any style of music."

She began playing tenor saxophone in the fifth grade at school and continued through high school.

Gwen also plays acoustic guitar, accompanying herself when she sings. She started to play guitar about four years ago.

The candidate enlisted in the U.S. Navy in October 1976 and assumed the rating of hospital corpsman.

She took basic training in Orlando, Fla., then corpsman training at Great Lakes Naval Station, near Chicago.

Her primary duty post was at Charleston, S.C., where she was stationed from August 1977 until leaving the service in January 1981.

During her Navy career, Gwen worked in the Navy hospital's general surgery ward for 1½ years, in an immunization clinic for almost a year and then in the emergency room for 14 months.

While in the service, Gwen enrolled in an Emergency Medical Technician's course at Trident Technical College in Charleston and became a certified ambulance attendant.

Since coming home, she has obtained EMT certification in Illinois.

Additionally, while stationed at Charleston, she played guitar and sang at various restaurants and clubs as a part-time job and, at that point, became interested in possibly making a career for herself in the music field.

In two weeks, however, Gwen will start training at Belleville Area College toward attaining a degree as a registered nurse, but she plans to continue her role as a country-western singer whenever opportunity permits.

Between February and May of this year, Gwen performed each Friday night at the Troy Music House, managed by Cliff and Peggy Patterson.

The Pattersons are sponsoring Gwen as a candidate in the MOD queen contest.

Musicians in the Glen Crossing Band, who will appear at the Aug. 28 dance, include Mike Healy, lead guitar and vocal; Dan Filkins, bass and vocal; Dan Whitehead, steel guitar, lead guitar and vocal; and Mike Nickles, drums.

Prospective candidates for the title of MOD queen still may register for the contest by contacting Barbara Downing, project director, at 1-289-4362 or 1-682-0888 for details and an application.

The overall contest is being sponsored by area CB's and will be climaxed by a coronation ball on Oct. 23 at American Legion Post 199, located on St. Louis Road, Edwardsville.

Any single girl who is 13 years and older and has a sponsor may enter the contest. A candidate does not have to be a CB'er, nor does the sponsoring group have to be CB affiliated, Mrs. Downing said.

Among the gifts the queen will receive are—$200 cash, a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, a crown, scepter and banner, portable television, clock, radio, perfume, stereo equipment, luggage, a wristwatch, camera, lamp, an accessory table, 10 gift certificates, a pearl pendant, collector's glassware, a jacket, purse, a portrait and medallion, among other items.

At the present time, most of the candidates are arranging various projects, such as bake sales, car washes, dances and selling tickets for the coronation ball, to help raise funds, Mrs. Downing said.

She urged the public to support these efforts and stressed that all proceeds are donated to the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Downing announced Wednesday that a second Granite City girl, along with two other area residents, has entered the MOD queen contest.

The local newcomer is Kimberly McCoy, 13, of 2241 Grand Ave., a student at Prather Junior High School.

Tammy Fisher of Wood River and Reva Qualls of Belleville, also new contestants, join Rhonda McCartney and Cindy Ogle, both of Collinsville; Marsha Akers of Jerseyville; Lori Trockler of Edwardsville; Sheri Lyn Naugle of Holiday Shores, Edwardsville; Rebecca Stille of Alhambra and Patricia Wolz of Waterloo, whose candidacies were reported in an earlier issue.

New North students register next week; orientation Aug. 20

Students new to the Granite City School District planning to attend Granite City High School North in the 1981-82 school year are required to register Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 17 through Aug. 19.

Former students who have dropped out of school and now wish to return to classes, also must register during next week's three-day period, according to North Assistant Principal Vic Buehler.

The hours for registration will be from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the main office at North High School.

Buehler said all incoming freshmen will attend "Orientation Day" in the North High cafeteria on Thursday, Aug. 20, from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m.

School buses will be operating Aug. 20 to transport the freshmen students, the administrator advised.

Construction work resumes

Construction resumed Tuesday here and throughout a 16-county area of Southwestern Illinois after an eight-day stoppage of many projects. About 10,000 workers had been affected.

A tentative three-year contract settlement was reached by 600-member Operating Engineers Local 520 and the Southern Illinois Builders Association in a marathon bargaining session ending Monday evening. The two groups met with Federal mediator Thomas O'Brien.

A ratification vote is scheduled for tomorrow night. Business Manager Jerry Wray Sr. is recommending approval, commenting, "It's a good contract."

An agreement lacking his endorsement lost by a 2-1 margin Aug. 2, leading to the Aug. 3 strike. Raises were called satisfactory but work rules were criticized at that time.

Wray said contractors originally sought to discourage keeping an operator on a piece of equipment while a mechanic was working on it. Another proposed rule would have increased to three from two the pieces of equipment a union member could be required to operate each day.

Carpenters, laborers and iron workers approved new agreements before the July 31 contract expiration. Cement masons on Monday ratified a similar contract.

Electrical workers' contract is due to expire at the end of August, and negotiations are in progress.

Madison school registration

The Madison Public Schools are now registering students for the coming year.

Parents of new students, who have moved into the district and have not yet registered their children for the coming school year, are requested to go to the respective school and register their children.

The principals and their staffs will be in the buildings from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, for registration.

Parents should take advantage of this opportunity to avoid confusion and frustration of trying to register children on the first day of school, according to school officials.

BREAK INTO CHURCH

Nothing is known missing after a break-in at St. Peter United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, early this week.

The puddy was removed from a window and the plexiglass removed to gain entry. The church office and Sunday School office were entered by breaking glass in both office doors and a metal door was forced from a cabinet in the church office.

McGee puts 'you' on TV Channel 'I'

By MARY HILDEBRAND
In case you haven't noticed, several of your neighbors are becoming television stars right here in your own back yard.

These stars are part of an extensive volunteer operation actively involved in producing the programs which air on South-Western Cable TV's Channel "I."

This channel is part of the company's commitment to providing an outlet, through television, for local coverage of local events by local people.

Channel "I" offers a total of 12 regularly scheduled programs in addition to special event programs such as coverage of a tornado, school plays and various community activities.

Each program needs between three and seven crew members in order to run smoothly.

Along with the "stars," the crews are also volunteers who are seeking a chance to learn how television works and how to use cameras, lights and other equipment.

"Coffee Break," the longest running volunteer show on Channel "I," is the idea of Gregg McGee, who acts as host. He is from Granite City.

Every Monday morning, he arrives at the studio with a guest, who will discuss anything from the fine art of van painting to the design and construction of a machine.

Introducing the viewers to local people and publicizing beneficial services to the public are McGee's purposes. The show has been running for over six months and draws a loyal following.

Investors seeking authoritative analysis of weekly trends may tune in "Investment Forum," aired live on Fridays just after the stock market closes.

Scott Luster, a resident of Edwardsville, and an investment broker, is the host. He reviews weekly stock market activities and interviews experts in various investment fields, such as penny stocks, strategic metals and annuities.

Another show, "Alive and Well," is co-hosted by local psychologists, Trish Demers-Cravens and Tony Miller.

They have as their guests therapists and counselors discussing interpersonal communications and relationships.

"Bouquet Garni" is hosted by Joy Bullivant, a Highland restaurateur with a chef's certificate from Cordon Bleu in London and La Vigne in Paris.

Her philosophy for the show is, "Not to teach people to cook, but to love to cook."

For the lovers of good food to keep their youthful figures, South-Western, with the talents of Donna Chaffee, produces a weekly exercise show which is aired each morning and several evenings.

A resident of Glen Carbon, she has certification in aerobic dance and swimming.

She teaches swimming, "swimmastics" and aerobic dance at several exercise spas in addition to her program for cable television.

She has run her own fitness camp and has worked at SIU and Lewis and Clark Community College.

Her goal for her show is "to make as many people as possible aware of fitness. It's important to a person's mental as well as physical well-being to be fit," she believes.

Joe May, a local area sports announcer, airs a weekly program covering the highlights of high school and college sports.

He will be working with South-Western as sports events covered by the stations increase. Tentative plans are being formulated to air one high school football game each weekend this fall. "Women Now" is put together by a group of volunteers seeking to discuss "the role of women in today's complex and changing world."

Three other programs feature local talent in a somewhat different mode: "Street Beat" provides an outlet for local musical groups which otherwise, unless they play in night spots, may have trouble gaining exposure.

"Kids Are Special" and "Story Time" are programs for and about children, each show may feature up to a dozen children from the surrounding area.

Finally, South-Western Cable has initiated an extensive program for local churches.

Employing an allocation of three time slots each week, churches put a wide variety of programs on the air. Volunteers from each group are trained, and "stars" are found within the church membership for moderate or host of each denomination's series.

Altogether, over 100

volunteers are at work in the television production facilities, bringing coverage of area events into the homes of subscribers and perhaps developing "The Stars of Tomorrow."

Frontier folk festival at Arch

One of the nation's largest annual folklife festivals — the 1981 Frontier Folk Festival — will be held Aug. 21, 22 and 23 on the grounds of the Gateway Arch.

The festival opens Friday,

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, August 13, 1981 — 11

Aug. 21, with a 7:30 p.m. concert featuring country music's Lonnie Glosson and Wayne Raney. Blues singer Johnny Shines headlines the Saturday, Aug. 22, 7:30 p.m. concert.

After 31 hours of crafts, blues, bluegrass, gospel and fiddling, the festival will wind to a close Sunday, Aug. 23, with a 6:30 p.m. concert featuring the Armstrong twins.

In addition to the feature acts, more than 60 musicians and crafts people will perform throughout the weekend. Among them are ballad singers Alemeda

Riddle and Tip McKinney, both in their eighties, an Ozark jon boat maker, the St. Louis Laotian immigrant community demonstrating weaving, dancing and magic, plus a taleless contest and a live old-time radio show reenactment.

Volunteers to aid insomnia research

Washington University's Department of Psychology is inaugurating a voluntary research program designed to help alleviate the problems of insomnia.

The program, open to men and women between the ages of 21 and 55 who have sleep-onset problems, begins Sept. 15. There is a $45 registration fee, $40 of which is refundable through regular participation.

Voluntary participants will be randomly assigned to four different treatment programs, all of which involve behavioral therapy in one form or another.

No drugs will be used in the four treatment programs. The first phase of the program will require two hours weekly participation for five weeks.

According to Professor Patricia B. Lacks, as high as 32 percent of the American population suffers from insomnia, spending $170 million on either prescription or over-the-counter drugs in search of relief.

About 33 percent of adult insomniacs indiscriminately use alcohol to help them sleep, she adds.

Because of limitations and dangers of present drug therapies, behavioral scientists are looking for non-drug treatments for insomnia. The Washington U. treatment program will concentrate on creating a successful non-drug treatment for insomnia.

To see if they qualify for the program, Quad-Cityans may call Miss Leslie Gans at (314) 889-6555.

Insomnia is a major health problem in the United States. Large scale surveys, including one which studied 1,064,004 people, showed that 15 to 22 percent suffer from insomnia as a current problem.

Over 60 percent have experienced insomnia at some time in their life. In addition to their discomfort and loss of work efficiency from a lack of adequate sleep, individuals with insomnia more frequently report multiple, persistent and recurrent health problems — and have been hospitalized more often and for longer periods of time than individuals who do not experience insomnia.

Insomniacs also report more emotional and family problems, tension, depression, and loneliness. To compound the health problem of insomnia, the most common treatment for this disorder is some type of hypnotic drugs, either prescription or over-the-counter.

Fourteen percent frequently use the potentially lethal combination of hypnotics and alcohol to help them sleep, researchers say. Aside from present drug therapies, behavioral scientists have tried systematic desensitization, various relaxation strategies, paradoxical intention, autogenic training, hypnosis, biofeedback, stimulus control, attribution manipulation, and classical conditioning.

Almost all these behavioral treatments have been shown to be superior to no treatment. However, attempts to discover which behavioral treatments for insomnia are most effective have led to contradictory results.

The primary reason for the inconsistencies in therapy comparison studies is said to be the treatment of insomnia as a unitary medical or behavioral disorder. It is a complex and heterogeneous disorder involving numerous complaints.

Insomnia differs markedly in degree and duration for different persons. It may manifest itself as a problem in getting to sleep, or of staying asleep, or of premature final awakening or of some combination of these three.

It may start during childhood or not until adulthood. And it is more common among females than males.

Bill allows seniors to carry 'protection'

Governor James R. Thompson signed a bill on Monday designed to protect senior citizens and others by allowing them to legally carry canisters of non-lethal substances for self-defense.

"All too often the elderly, the handicapped and many people in general feel they are totally defenseless in today's society and shut themselves away in their homes as a result," the governor said.

"While no one should fool himself that this bill is an end-all to today's crime problem, it will afford our citizens some measure of protection against muggers and purse-snatchers."

Senate Bill 63 limits the possession of objects containing non-lethal liquid gas or substances to those aged 18 or older. Those objects, such as a spray canister may be concealed in a woman's purse or in suit coats pockets.

The law becomes effective January 1, 1982.

The sponsors of the measure were Senator Karl Berning, of Deerfield, and Representative Donald Deuster, of Mundelein.

Flowers & Gifts

by Ron Kelih

In traditional courtships, flowers and candy were often offered by the suitor to his lady. Giving flowers is one of those traditions that lasted and is always appreciated.

However, you can give it a new twist that will keep flowers giving in tune with the times. Why not have a woman give flowers to a man? Few men would say that flowers are anything but beautiful and why not decorate a bachelor apartment with flowers and plants?

People love to get flowers for any occasion, but they are more appreciated if given for an occasion at all. When you want to give flowers or plants call BETTY AND BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833. We also carry gift items including baskets, Fenton glassware, North Carolina Brass, wood pieces from Sawmiller and many other items. Hours: Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Girl Scouts travel to Savannah, Ga.

Twenty-one members of Cadette Girl Scout Troop 328 have returned from a 9-day trip to Savannah, Ga., which they planned, and earned money for the excursion by sponsoring many fund raising projects during the previous nine months.

The scouts who attend Coolidge or Grigsby Junior High Schools and St. Margaret Mary School, sandwiched trip planning and money-making projects into their usual busy Girl Scout schedule to earn over $3,000 for the summer trip. Each girl also was required to pay an additional $50 to cover expenses.

To earn the money the troop sold Girl Scout cookies, sponsored a candy bar sale, photographed children with the Easter Bunny and held a spaghetti dinner. By the middle of June their plans were all completed.

At 5:30 a.m. on the initial day of departure the sleepy-eyed girls found their places on a school bus rented from Zobrist Bus Lines in Highland. Hugh Allen, father of one of the troop members, Rhonda Allen, spent his day as a volunteer bus driver for the girls.

His wife, Phyllis and another mother, Doris Oliver assisted Diana Kinder, troop leader, as chaperones. In order to help on food costs each girl had contributed a box of cereal, a bag of chips and a bag of cookies to troop supplies. Breakfast on the first day was spent in the park at Lake and for the ensuing three days they ate picnic lunches until the troop had gone.

At the first afternoon the girls visited Lookout Mountain and rode the Incline Railway in Chattanooga. That night they had free accommodations at the Brainerd Optimist Youth Club arranged by their sister scouts at the Moccasin Bend Council.

During the evening the group enjoyed a party with girls from several Chattanooga troops and discovered that Girl Scouts from all areas enjoy many of the same songs and activities. Much time was spent swapping names and addresses.

On the second day they arrived in Savannah, the home city of the founder of Girl Scouting, Juliette Gordon Low. While there they enjoyed free accommodations and mess hall privileges at Hunter Army Medical Center. They were required to vacate the gym where they slept, by 6:30 a.m.

Noel Reeds host dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Reed, 2120 Missouri Ave., entertained guests at a family dinner in their home this week.

Mrs. Gilbert is honored

A family reunion and party honoring Mrs. Florence Gilbert on her 89th birthday was held this week at Wilson Park.

A pot luck dinner was served during the afternoon event.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Al LeMay, Weldon Springs, Mo., and Mrs. Sterling Kiepe and Mrs. Virginia Rasmie and son Don, all of Farmington, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh White and daughter Janice, Peoria, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Redd Austin and son Wesley, Florissant, Mo.

Also Mrs. Mary Jane Wade, Collinsville, Mo. and Mrs. Marion Reisinger and daughter Annette of St. Charles, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Showalter and children, Staunton, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. George Reisinger and son, Charles Reisinger and daughter, Russell Reisinger, all of Sorento.

Local guests included Mrs. Vernie Mitchell, Mrs. Helen Stumpe, Mrs. Gladys Gilbert, Monte Reisinger, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Randall and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Irwin, Mrs. Linda Hurry and children, Mrs. Evonne Garrett and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Bunker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reisinger, Mrs. Debbie Terry and children, and Mrs. Geri Fuchs and son.

GEORGIA OR BUST is the slogan of Cadette Girl Scout Troop 328 as they prepare to board a bus for their vacation trip to visit Juliette Gordon Low National Girl Scout Center in Savannah. Enroute to their destination and on return trip home the troop visited many other sites of interest and historical landmarks.

Although they did not like being awakened at 5:30 in the morning they agreed the showers were terrific.

While in Savannah, they did some sightseeing along the riverfront and in Savannah's historic landmark district, the oldest such district in the country. They spent an evening swimming at Skidaway Island State Park and observed the barrier island, tidal estuaries, and salt marshland of the area. An impromptu watermelon feast complete with a neighborhood boy made an evening laundry session less of a chore.

While visiting the Juliette Gordon Low National Girl Scout Center the girls learned what "Daisy" Low's childhood was like in this house where she grew up. During the afternoon they attended a special interest session called "Fashion, Fabrics and Frills."

They were fascinated by hoop skirts, bustles, the etiquette of fans, and corsets that reduced a lady's waistline by several inches. Several scouts were chosen to model hoop skirts and bustles and they came to appreciate the problems of negotiating steep, narrow stairways in wide hoop skirts without exposing ankles.

Through the session they came to understand how lady's clothing of that time enforced the restrictions that society placed on women's activities.

One of Savannah's biggest attractions turned out to be the trip to Savannah Beach.

where the girls enjoyed riding the waves with only minimal sunburn damage. Many had never seen the ocean before.

Upon leaving Savannah the troop went to Atlanta where they spent a day and a half at Stone Mountain Park. They rode the water slide, the sky lift, train and riverboat excursion. Here they also viewed the granite carving of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, and Stonewall Jackson.

For many of the girls the gift shops were a real highlight of the area. They brought some personal spending money for snacks and souvenirs and it was here that they spent it.

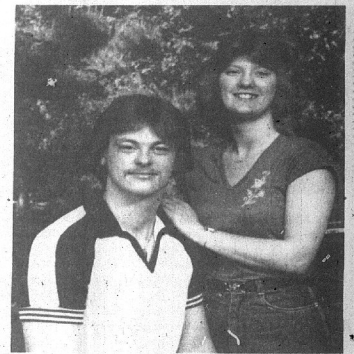

The youth lodge at Stone

Mountain Park represented their most expensive lodging which was one dollar per night for sleeping bag accommodations for each girl. The following evening was spent at a Cumberland Valley Girl Scout Lodge outside Nashville where they again visited with area Girl Scouts.

On the next day the following tired girls with dirty clothes and relieved chaperones arrived at Frohardt School's parking lot, Rhonda Allen, Kris Bausch, Jennifer Benoit, Sherri Crown, Teresa David, Karrie Frazier, Ragina Herrin, Lisa Jackson, Jill Kinder, Cheryl Lenzi, Chris Loyet, Evelyn Miles, Rhonda Niederkorn, Diane Oliver, Michelle Rheinhardt, Colleen Ryan, Pam Smith, Melissa Stinson, Cheryl Swift, Anne Voyles and Beverly Wallace.

Among those who assisted the troop in making preparations for the tour were Winfield Construction Co. of Edwardsville, who donated trip tee shirts, David Thomas for the tee shirt design, local banks for donations of supplies for the spaghetti dinner, Bill Diak for 500 cups, Mercer-Thomas Mortuary for the dinner tickets and advertising.

Also Judge Andreas Mateosian for fashioning canoe paddle "swaps" for the girls, Needle Co. who donated tea, Rev. David Maxton who found accommodations for the topers, and others who bought cookies, candy, bunny pictures and dinners. Mrs. Kinder, troop leader, also noted the River Bluffs Council advised and helped throughout the months of extensive planning for the summer vacation trip.

Mrs. Hancock was honored as the top CHEP program assistant in Illinois and Mrs. Marshall received a similar award for the EFNFP program.

Local woman honored at state conference

Wilma Hancock, 2444 Bryan Ave., is among 13 program assistants recently honored for their work with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, for her efforts in teaching consumer information to residents of a half-way house for the mentally ill.

Mrs. Hancock has been involved with the Consumer and Homemaking Education Program in Madison County for 11 years and now works with some 20 families. Her selection as a top CHEP paraprofessional for 1981 was announced during the state paraprofessionals conference held on the U. of I. Urbana-Champaign campus. She received her award, including a cash prize of $20 from the Illinois Association of Extension Home Economists, at a special banquet.

The CHEP program with which Mrs. Hancock works was started in Illinois in 1971 and is one of the only programs of its type in the nation. It is designed to help low-income families learn how to make better use of their resources, including their time, energy, money, skills and health.

CHEP program assistants take educational programs directly to people in their communities, usually on a one-to-one basis. The U. of I. Cooperative Extension Service provides program assistants with training in consumer and homemaking information as well as in teaching and working with others. Currently, more than 35 CHEP program assistants are working with more than 8,600 homemakers in five Illinois counties.

The time of the recent conference at which Mrs. Hancock was honored, "Reach Out and Teach," is not unlike the program assistant's own philosophy of working with people. She residents of a Madison County Mental Health Services half-way house for the mentally ill who were about to re-enter society. She held classes once a week on comparison shopping, meal planning, money management, time and work management, simple home repairs and fire safety for the group.

In assessing the needs of her "students," Mrs. Hancock decided a good way to make the information she wanted to present palatable was to make it practical as well. To reinforce what she had been teaching them about food buying and preparation, she encouraged the group to begin eating together one evening a week. "The group would plan the menu together and take turns doing the various tasks involved," she said. "During the meal, they would try foods they had not eaten before and evaluate them as a group."

Her sessions helped prepare those living in the half-way house to assume the responsibilities that awaited them after they left and helped them better utilize the skills and information she wanted to leave with them.

In an evaluation of her performance, a spokesman for the half-way house said, "Mrs. Hancock has been a most important and integral part of the Community Support Project at the Mental Health Clinic... and has done a tremendous job with a very difficult population of people."

The conference at which the local recipient was honored included sessions and workshops on weight control and a number of related topics as well as tours of the U. of I. campus and visits with university officials.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gabriel

Gabriel-Skerle

Miss Christina Skerle and Gary Gabriel were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on May 30 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, performed by the Rev. Seamus Shortall.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Angelina Jones and Thomas Skerle, both of Granite City. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gabriel, 2533 Hodges Ave.

An aunt of the bride, Rose Aiello, sang "Sunrise, Sunset" and "If" accompanied by Phyllis Talley at the organ, prior to the service.

The former Miss Skerle chose a full length white gown designed with a high lace collar, sheer yoke and accented with a lace ruffle, and bishop sleeves.

Her slightly full skirt and chapel train was encircled with a lace edged flounce. She wore a mantilla style veil bordered with scallop lace and she held a cascade of white roses, tiger lilies, rosebuds and forget-me-nots with greenery.

Mrs. Vicky Dietrich, a sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with bridesmaids, Lori Taylor, Cindy Tompkins and Laura Gabriel, the groom's sister. They were attired in identical sea green formal dresses fashioned with lace yokes, long sleeves and pleated skirts.

Each attendant held an arrangement of silk white roses, green tiger lilies, rosebuds, and forget-me-nots. Leah Mendoza and Chris Martinez, a niece and nephew of the bride, served as flower girl and ringbearer.

She was dressed in a off white floor length frock of lace and polyester, and she carried a basket of flowers. The groom chose his brother, Tom Gabriel, as best man, Jeff Gabriel, another brother, George Kovach and Al Woodard were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Tom Skerle, the bride's brother, and Phil Gac. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones selected a coral floor length cape gown featuring a draped skirt and sleeveless bodice complemented with a floral cape.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Gabriel appeared in a sky blue crepe full length dress created with a blouson and crocheted lace bodice and accented with silk corsages of roses and forget-me-nots in hues to match their attire.

A reception was held at the Polish Hall in Madison, and the rehearsal dinner was hosted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel.

After a wedding trip to the Lodge of the Four Seasons, the couple is now residing in Granite City.

Both are graduates of South High School. The bride is employed at American Heritage Bank and the groom works at American Steel Foundries.

Venice decides to answer fire calls after getting letter

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

On the recommendation of the aldermanic fire committee, the Venice city council Tuesday night voted unanimously to cease fire protection to the Benjamin addition.

Mayor Tyrone Echols informed the council he had requested a letter, by the Tuesday night council meeting, with clarification from Venice Township Supervisor Christ Paschoff on the township's intentions of payment for fire calls in the Benjamin addition.

On Wednesday morning, Paschoff delivered the letter to the Venice mayor in which it is stated that Venice township would be responsible for payment of fire calls made in the Benjamin addition.

Mayor Echols said that this letter rescinds the Tuesday night action and fire protection will be given the Benjamin addition.

Venice will continue to cover the Tri-City Regional Port District and their tenants, as Carl Ranft, manager of the port, has informed Venice officials the port authority will be responsible for payment of fire calls and will pay directly to Venice.

Alderman John Ervin, chairman of the aldermanic fire committee, said Tuesday night that when and if Venice Township sent them a letter in reference to paying for calls to Benjamin addition fires, the fire committee would reconsider the action.

Mayor Echols further told the council he has not heard a thing about payment for a fire that Venice was ordered to cover by Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand and Don Weber, states attorney for Madison County.

"I am going to Edwardsville tomorrow on some other business and I will try to see someone on the matter of who is going to pay for the fire call," Echols said.

The Venice fire department has ceased to answer calls in Eagle Park Acres, due to lack of payment.

Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. verbally chastised his fellow council members for not attending a children's independent league sports banquet held during the weekend.

"I can not see why, out of eight aldermen, we could not have a few in attendance. We can make the senior citizens meetings, why can't we make children's programs?"

"I feel that as aldermen we represent the kids as well as the senior citizens."

"Our children should know their city officials. We do a lot of complaining about vandalism done by kids, but what are we as aldermen doing to help them? Not much."

"The people who work with the baseball programs are not paid and do not get a dime for their services."

"We need to forget north and south Venice and just think Venice."

"Also, I would like to know when I was taken off the aldermanic recreation committee Mr. Mayor?"

Valentine asked.

Mayor Echols said, "You resigned as chairman sometime ago, but you were never taken off the committee."

"As I said earlier I apologize for not being at the banquet, but I was at home ill. In fact I did not go to work Monday."

I, as you know, always try to make all the youth as well as the adult functions, and have since I was elected an alderman, long before I even thought of being mayor.

"I also contribute personally each year to help the league with their children's baseball banquet and I donated this year."

"I can not speak for the aldermen," Echols said.

Alderman George Lewis and Charles Haynes, the other two members of the aldermanic recreation committee, were not present at the meeting.

Alderman Ervin took heated exception to Valentine's remarks.

"I know lots of functions you were not at and should have been. I think you (Valentine) should speak for yourself and your personal opinion. We are entitled to go where we want to go," Ervin said.

The two aldermen then exchanged hostile words for about four minutes until Mayor Echols adjourned the meeting.

Hearing to decide fate of county jail building

By RICK WELLE

Final arguments in the ongoing case involving the old Madison County jail and sheriff's residence were to be presented this morning at a hearing before Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell, who is to decide the jail's fate.

Isbell is expected to take the case under advisement. The fate of the old jail has been dangling for more than a year. In June, Madison County decided to raze the building to make room for a parking lot and possibly an administration building in downtown Edwardsville, bringing the issue to a head.

The decision prompted reactivation of a suit filed earlier against the county by the Goshen Preservation Alliance, which is working to save the building for architectural and historic purposes. The city of Edwardsville later joined in the suit against the county.

Arguments from both sides have begun to heat up, prompting another party, the Land of Goshen Chamber of Commerce, to jump in as a mediator.

"There has been kind of a widening of the relationship between the city and the county because of this issue," said Otis Cowan, president of the Goshen Chamber of Commerce. "If we narrow that partition, it may be a positive step."

For that reason the chamber brought together Edwardsville Mayor Ken Evers and county board chairman Nelson Hagauer, Tuesday morning.

"I guess we just had an opportunity to exchange first-hand our point of views," Evers said. "What did come out of it is that we'll sit down and discuss the outcome of the judge's decision. There's nothing more either of us can do, now."

The initial suit against the board by the CPA was filed because the board, according to the suit, had agreed to lease the jail at a nominal fee to the CPA for three years, but later reneged on the agreement.

The county board never approved a written contract. The city of Edwardsville joined in the suit, claiming that under state law the city has the right to declare the building an historic landmark and prohibit its demolition. The county says the city doesn't have the right to dictate use of county property.

Since then arguments have gone back and forth. On one side architects claimed the old jail should be saved for its structural value, while the county board produced an architect who felt the building was a cosmetic approach to architecture and should be torn down.

In an attempt to compromise the situation, the chamber contacted Ray Carr of Cruikshank House Movers of East St. Louis to study the feasibility of relocating the structure.

Mathias apologized for a public statement he made last week in which he said he did not believe the company was assessing a "tax on a tax."

At that time, the executive said, he understood the statement was factual, based on information available to him.

Admits tax on tax

Carl Mathias, service area manager for Illinois Power Company, said during an investigation this week he found the Madison utility tax is indeed a tax on a tax.

The problem is enabling legislation which requires the utility to collect the tax on the full amount of a bill with no exceptions.

"That means," he said, "Illinois Power must apply a two percent state tax and then apply the utility tax (five percent in Madison, for example) on the full amount."

Mathias apologized for a public statement he made last week in which he said he did not believe the company was assessing a "tax on a tax."

At that time, the executive said, he understood the statement was factual, based on information available to him.

TAKE FOOD STAMPS

About $35 to $40 worth of food stamps were stolen from the home of Gina Shaffer, 128 Twenty-second St., Monday. Entry was believed gained through a window from which a screen was removed.

News notes

Illinois Power Co. has asked the Illinois Commerce Commission to reconsider the 19.9 percent electric utility rate hike the ICC granted. The utility lists seven points where the ICC order is said to be "against the manifest weight of the evidence and contrary to law."

A public meeting will be held at 1 p.m. Sept. 9 at the Bel Air Hilton Hotel, 4th and Washington, St. Louis, on the replacement of Alton Lock and Dam 28. Comments will be accepted on the work done so far, the status of court rulings, Congressional action, cost-benefit analyses, and the need for a second new lock.

Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton urged school superintendents Monday to support state legislation to speed the tax process. A bill now on the governor's desk would require township assessors to submit their books to the county by April 15, six weeks ahead of the present deadline, and also to keep duplicate books.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall H. Smith is asking Madison, Venice and the Long Lake fire district to join with him in urging a new Eagle Park fire district, which could then contract with one of the three fire protection services.

The ESSAYS of Montaigne contain the ruminations of a man who was both practical and philosophical. Here are a few, "The greatest thing in the world is to know how to be sufficient unto one's self." "There never were in the world two opinions alike, no more than two hairs or two grains; the most universal quality is diversity. . . I will follow the right side even to the fire, by excluding the fire if I can. . . I speak truth, not so much as I would, but as much as I dare; and I dare little the more, as I grow older. . . Every man bears the whole stamp of the human condition."

One's quest for self sufficiency has reached new limits in the new society of today. Many are seeking to relieve dear ones of anguish and uncertain decisions making as to final interment arrangements. For answers to your questions as well as assistance in pre-planning preferences and arrangements, let MERCER, THOMAS and SEDLACK MORTUARIES aid you. We offer a professional and dignified approach to a most important consideration.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Emphasize adoption of local youngsters with special needs

The adoption team at the Children's Home and Aid Society, Southwestern Regional Office, Alton, has made permanent planning for special needs children its top priority for this year.

There are over 26,000 children in the foster care system in Illinois, and approximately 1,300 of these children are legally free for adoption. The team will focus on the available children and permanent plans for them to have a home.

The group is a Tri-Cities Area United Way agency. In the past year, the Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois placed several special needs children in the Tri-Cities. All of those adoptions have been finalized or are in the process of finalization. Among the children placed was a twelve year old bi-racial male; a three month old Hispanic female; a nine year old bi-racial female; a four year old Caucasian male with cerebral palsy; a three year old black female; and a two month old black male with a single parent. Appropriate single parents are seen as viable resources for the waiting children, the adoption team says.

Other issues the team will be addressing include the dynamics of placing the older and emotionally troubled child.

Quality of services will continue to be a goal of the team for those children and families served.

The team includes caseworkers Nancy Bivens, Lisa Bednarzyk, Brenda Ervin, Julie Mayewski, Suzanne Sehy and Kathy Wilson.

Final motorcycle safety classes planned at BAC

The final round of motorcycle safety courses for 1981 will be conducted at Belleville area College this month and next.

The free classes, which are sponsored by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation and funded by the Illinois Department of Transportation, are open to anyone 15 or older. No license is required, however, those under 18 must have parental permission.

Motorcycles, helmets and insurance are provided.

Courses to be at BAC will be from Friday, Aug. 28 to Sunday, Aug. 30 and from Friday, Sept. 11 to Sunday, Sept. 13. Classes will meet from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday with an hour lunch break.

Enrollment is limited. For information and to register, persons may call Carol Hudack, 235-2700, extension 201.

Similar courses will be offered at Scott Air Force Base the same times and days.

For information on Scott classes, interested persons may call Sgt. Aris, 256-6311. The courses include 20 hours of instruction — eight in class and 12 on the motorcycle.

Approximately 1,000 people have completed the program at BAC during the three years it has been offered. The classes, which have been offered statewide for five years, are organized through five Illinois universities. More than 20,000 have participated in the program throughout the state.

In 1980 the Carbondale program received the Motorcycle Safety Foundation's top award for excellence.

"We like to say someone who has never ridden before taking this course comes out of it with the skill of someone who has ridden 10,000 miles," Bodeker said.

Workshop on how to return to university

"Returning to college after a long absence or entering college for the first time can be awesome for people approaching middle age. For many, it's an entirely new experience," according to a spokesman for the Gerontology Program and the Counseling and Testing Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. A one-day free workshop will be held tomorrow for people interested in learning more about taking classes for credit or for their own enrichment. Sessions will meet in the Mississippi Room of the University Center from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

"Parking is available in the visitors' lot. Workshop participants can either bring their own lunches or eat in the university cafeteria," the spokesman said. The workshop will be of special interest to men and women who wish to advance in their present career fields but who must continue to work while doing so. It should also be of value to the woman who would like to supplement the family income but who has small children still at home. "Topics to be considered will include gaining college credit for life experience, career interest testing, entering college as a non-high school graduate, group and individual counseling, financial assistance, tutoring, and placement information."

NEW OFFICERS. Mrs. Doris Edwards and her husband, Stanley "Red" Edwards will be installed as president and commander of Tri-City American Legion Post 113 and Auxiliary. The event, which is open to the public will take place on Saturday, Aug. 15, beginning at 6 o'clock in the evening at the post home, 1825 State St. A dinner and dance will follow the ceremonies.

$36,000 damage to mooring structure at port district

Damage to a 19-pile mooring cluster at the Tri-City Regional Port on the Granite City riverfront will reach approximately $36,000 and is only partially covered by insurance, members of the Tri-City Regional Port board were informed during a regular meeting Monday night.

Carl Ranft, port manager, said the authority had $27,500 insurance on the structure and it is not yet certain what portion of the damage will be paid by the carrier. The structure was at the Granite City Terminal site and apparently was struck by a tow or other object. "We have not yet determined what object caused the damage but after we settle insurance claims we will make every effort to fix responsibility for the damage," Ranft said. The damage occurred two weeks ago, he said.

The board Monday night also authorized a series of changes in plans for the port authority's new office building.

Ranft also reported during the meeting that there have been three train derailments in ten days on district property, the latest involving an engine and a freight car Sunday night. No extensive damage was caused in the derailments, he said, although there was some track damage. Changes in the office plans involved a change to heating pumps, which will add $26,000 to the original contract price of $438,000. Ranft also was authorized in electrical work and to the entryway at the lease section of the structure. Plans were discussed for an industrial seminar to be held here Oct. 28 to acquaint developers, engineers and industrial leaders with advantages offered by port services and what services are available. Bids were opened on a new mover and on an automobile, but all were rejected as not meeting specifications. Ranft said the two objects will be readjusted.

DAMAGE IS ALLEGED
Ricky J. Stein, 19, of 2322 State St., was arrested at his home Monday night and was charged with criminal damage to property on a complaint signed by Ellen Fogle of Glen Carbon. She alleged that at 9:25 p.m. Monday a car was tailgating hers on Nameoki Road at Johnson Road and when she stopped for a red light at Nameoki and Pontoon roads, Stein jumped out of the rear car, ripped a bumper sticker from the rear bumper of her car and then walked to the driver's side and kicked a dent in the rear quarter panel.

Corral wins slugfest with Red Sox

By JEFF WILSON
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The Maryville Red Sox and the Corral Liquor Cowboys had their hitting shoes on Tuesday night. They banged out 27 hits and 31 runs, including 26 runs in the first four innings. At the end of the three-hour contest, the Cowboys had won, 17-14.

"We never gave up," Maryville coach Harold Oberkell said. And the way each team was hitting, there was no reason to be discouraged.

You knew what kind of a night it would be when the Cowboys' leadoff hitter, Mike Clark, started the game with a home run to left centerfield over the 360 foot mark.

You knew what kind of a night it would be when, with Corral leading 3-2 in the top of the second, the Cowboys sent 10 men to the plate.

Before the inning was over, seven more runs, three on a home run by Mark Clark, crossed the plate for the Cowboys and made the game appear to be a runaway at 10-2.

Cowboys strike early and hold off Maryville

You knew what kind of a night it would be when Maryville scored three runs in its half of the second inning. A one-out single by Jamie Semanisin and a fielder's choice Maden on an error by Cowboy third baseman Mark Clark gave Bob Ricker a chance to let his bat do the talking.

Ricker tripled to the fence in right-center and drove in two runs. He scored when Dan Bixler reached on an error by shortstop Mike Clark.

Four more Corral runs crossed home in the third inning. And three more in the fourth. That was all Corral could muster. The fourth of four Maryville pitchers, Maden, closed the door on the Cowboys from that point on.

Over the last three innings, Maden allowed only two hits, a walk and struck out two Corral batters. The hull in the fifth before it attempted a seventh-inning comeback. With one out, Bixler and pinch-hitter Harold Oberkell (that's MANAGER Harold Oberkell) walked against Corral pitcher Mark Clark, who came in for starter-manager Ken Crawford in the fourth.

Marty Mestemacher reached on a force out. Then Maryville's two-out comeback began. Joe Semanisin singled in one run with a shot to left field. Clark then walked another batter, Wayne Poston, to load the bases and then walked Dave Johnson to force home one run. Singles by Jamie Semanisin and Maden drove in three runs. With the score 17-14, and the tying run at the plate, Ricker flied out to centerfield to end the game.

Corral's victory ups its season record to 17-3. The Cowboys will play Granite City rival McDonald's this Sunday at 1 p.m. in Wilson Park in the regular season finale for both teams.

The real story of the game was the pitching. Maryville allowed the Cowboys 17 runs on 13 hits. Maryville pitchers also gave up 13 walks.

In the hitting department for Corral, Jeff Trotter was 3-for-3 with a triple, Mike Clark was 2-for-5 with a home run, Tom Greco was 2-for-3 with a triple and two walks, Mark Clark was 2-for-5 with a home run and Larry Burns was 1-for-2 with three walks.

steal. In bottom photo, Clark looks for the ball, but it's already behind him. Corral went on to win the Inter-City game at South High 17-14.

GC duo wins title at District golf meet

EDWARDSVILLE — The father-son team of Herman and Dutch Schroeder won the St. Louis District Father-Son Golf Tournament championship here last week at Sunset Hills Country Club.

The Schroeders of Granite City beat favored duo of Henry and Joe Malench by two strokes over the par 71 course at Sunset Hills. The Schroeders finished with a four-under 67, while the Malenches finished at two-under, 69. The defending champions, Al and Allen Schmidt of Norwood Hills finished with a 76 in the 30-and-over division.

Dutch Schroeder, 21,

was a standout on Granite City South High's golf and tennis teams. He still holds the golf team's record for a 68 in the 30-and-over division.

University. His dad, Herman, is a 19-handicap player.

The Schroeders are members at Sunset Hills, but most of Dutch's golfing time has been spent at Arlington Golf Club near Granite City. "I came up and played a practice round," said Dutch.

"This was the first time I've ever been able to talk my dad into playing," he said. "He played super and I had a hot putter. He was able to put the ball on the greens and I got it down."

The younger Schroeder had only one bogey, but offset it with five birdies. None of the putts was inside 25 feet.

Morgan resigns at South

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Board of Education accepted the resignation of Terry Yates as assistant football coach at Prather Junior High School. Yates cited outside interests which would take his time away from football as his reason for resignation.

The Board also accepted the resignation of Terry Yates as assistant football coach at Prather Junior High School. Yates cited outside interests which would take his time away from football as his reason for resignation.

In other sports-related action, the Board voted to hire Tina Taylor as the new girls volleyball coach at Granite City North. Taylor is a 1981 graduate of SIUE-Edwardsville with a major in physical education. She played four years of varsity volleyball at GCHS North while a prep student. She will not teach in the school system — only coach.

The Board also voted to hire two assistant football coaches at GCHS South — Bill Koenig of Granite City and Bob Hollingshead of Collinsville. Both men are certified teachers, but do not teach in the Granite City school system. Hollingshead teaches in Collinsville and has received permission from that school district to coach in Granite City.

Cougars could be a threat this season

EDWARDSVILLE — If statements like "we sure are going to be a young team" or "we're still putting the finishing touches on our rebuilding year" conjure up thoughts of "wait till next year," the 1981 Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville could change your mind.

Indeed, the Cougars will open the season with just three seniors on the roster, but to Head Coach Bob Guelker and Assistant Coach Rick Benben, 1981 could be the year SIUE surprises the experts and makes a strong run at their third National Collegiate Athletic Association championship in 10 years.

Returning eight of their top 10 scorers from the 1980 campaign, including Mike Gaudin who collected 10 points last season, the Cougars will attempt the return of such outstanding performers as co-captains Pat Malloy and Mark Downar, Steve Schaefer, Dan O'Keefe, Steve Gaudin, Ed Gettemier and Mike Twellman, as well as a host of other younger players who saw action for the Cougars last season. Coach Guelker has also enjoyed one of the best recruiting seasons in recent years, inking Chris Hundel, Dan Malloy, Tim Loughman, Bill Stallings and Sean Mulkeny to letters of intent. Hoping to blend the young but talented group of new comers with several experienced veterans, Guelker and his 1981 Cougars will be looking to regain the form that took them to the national title in 1979.

Despite the apparent optimism that surrounds the pre-season camp, the 1981 Cougars will still have to answer several questions before making a bid at their 13th consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Can the Cougars replace the offensive punch that Tim Guelker and Matt Malloy, the sixth and seventh leading scorers in SIUE history, provided last season? Can they battle their way through one of their toughest schedules in recent years with a relatively inexperienced squad? And finally, can goalkeepers Mark Downar and Ed Gettemier maintain the 1.25 goals per game average they established last season?

The following is a rundown of the 1981 Cougars, position by position:

GOALKEEPERS
Rapidly becoming one of the best platooning systems in the history of the NCAA, Coach Guelker will again rely on the combined talents of Mark Downar and Ed Gettemier in the goal cages. Downar, a senior from Jennings High School in St. Louis, gives the Cougars some much-needed experience as well as one of the quickest goalies in the area. Standing just 5'9", Downar started nine games for the Cougars last season while allowing just 14 goals and recording two shutouts. Gettemier, a junior from Kennedy High School in St. Louis, gives the Cougars a tall, goalie, 6'0", and is coming off an outstanding sophomore season. While starting 11 games for the Cougars last season, Gettemier held the opposition to just 11 goals and recorded a pair of shutouts. Regardless of the opponent, Downar and Gettemier will alternate starts in the nets for the Cougars.

BACKS

Expected to return to his familiar 4-3 system, Coach Guelker's defensive unit will consist of four of the best athletes on the team. Co-captain Pat Malloy, a graduate of Hazelwood Central High School, will step in as the Cougars' left fullback while sophomore Greg Fleher will assume the duties from the right fullback position, although he may see action in the middle. The mainstay of the defense, Tom Groark of DeSmet High School, will again fill the role as the Cougars' stopperback. Groark, a very aggressive defensive player, is ranked as the best one-on-one player on the team. Standing just 5'9", Groark will be the starting berth at sweeperback appears to be a two-way fight between cousins Steve and Mike Gaudin. Mike Gaudin, who can also be moved to the front line, is the top returning scorer from the 1980 team. Chris Hundel, an incoming freshman from Rosary High School, is expected to break into the lineup either as a sweeperback or at midfield following the World Cup Youth Championship Games. Hundel will be a member of the United States National team when it travels to Australia for the youth games this fall.

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Park District will hold a Women's Labor Day Slow-Pitch Tournament starting Thursday, Sept. 3, through Sept. 7. The tournament must have at least six teams with first priority given to Granite City Park District teams.
The entry fee is $65 per team. The tournament will be double elimination with team trophies to the top two teams and individual trophies to each member of the championship team. The tournament will be open roster.

The deadline for entry fees is Monday, Aug. 31 and the drawing for the tournament will be Tuesday, Sept. 1 at 7 p.m. in the park office.
For further information,

GRANITE CITY — The
third annual Armenian Open Golf Tournament will be held Sunday, Aug. 30 at the Arlington Golf Club near Granite City. It is sponsored by St. Gregory Armenian Church of Granite City.

Tea-off time for the tournament will be 11 a.m.
Entry fee is $35 and includes green fees for 18 holes, a golf cart, prizes and an awards banquet. A shish-ka-bob dinner will be served at the awards banquet.

Steelerette

GRANITE CITY — The
first fall practice session for the Granite City High School North girls tennis team will be Wednesday, Aug. 19 at 8 a.m., according to head coach Judy Ward.
The practice session will last approximately two hours on the North tennis courts. All girls interested in playing this fall are asked to attend.

Bell gets his chance

ST. LOUIS — Mark Bell is finally getting his chance. Good for Bell.
Maybe not so good for the St. Louis football Cardinals. Definitely not good for Mel Gray.

Bell will most likely be the fill-in for Gray at the wide receiver's position when the regular season opens. That's because Gray, the All-Pro who's trying to break the NFL record for most consecutive games catching a pass, suffered a shoulder injury last week in practice at Lindenwood College in St. Charles. So much for the record.

"I'm sorry it had to happen. But I've got to go out there and make the most of the situation."

Bell has shown signs of brilliance during his brief two-year career in the NFL. But because of Gray and Pat Tilley, the other standout wide receiver for the Big Red, he's never really gotten a shot at showing what he can do over the period of an entire game. Now he probably will.

"The thing I have to work on the most is my consistency," Bell said.
"About anybody can make the grab catch every now and then. But it's the easy passes. The ones that I should catch every time."

"They're the ones that can make or break a game."

NOTES: The Big Red will face the Seattle

MARK BELL is the wide receiver the St.
Louis football Cardinals hope can fill in for injured Mel Gray while Gray recovers from an injury suffered last week in training camp. The

midfield positions may be one of the toughest decisions Coach Guelker has to make before opening the 1981 intercollegiate season September 4, against Lynchburg College. Hoping to overcome inexperience and a possible lack of offensive punch in the midfield, Guelker's leading candidates appear to be Mike Twellman at the left side, Leo Bourneuf up the middle and any of three potential starters on the right side. Twellman, a junior and one of five members of the 1979 NCAA championship team still with the Cougars, will add consistency to the Cougar attack. Also expected to see action as a defender, Twellman is the third member of his family to compete in soccer at SIUE.
Bourneuf, a sophomore who started for the Cougars last season, possesses outstanding ball-handling abilities. A very intelligent player, Bourneuf is an outstanding play-maker with exceptional overall skills.
Senior George Mishalow and freshman Tim Loughman appear to be in the running for the starting right mid-field position. Mishalow, who will be making the shift from his backfield position, may break into the starting rotation for the first time.
Loughman, a bright spot in the future of SIUE soccer, has all it took to be an outstanding midfielder except experience.

FORWARDS
Beginning to look like the most contested position on the field, the 1981 Cougars are expecting a four-way battle for the starting outside left wing position. Dan Malloy, Sean Mulquency, Bill Stallings or Ty Chivert could all step in and provide additional offensive punch to the Cougars. Malloy and Stallings may also see action as a striker, however, Dan O'Keefe appears to have the inside track to a starting berth at center forward.
O'Keefe, a sophomore from McCluer High School, demonstrated tremendous progress last season and has shown outstanding potential as one of the top scorers on the roster.

AUTO FACTS
by Harold Chitwood

A battery's energy must be constantly replenished or it will not function. A continuing supply of electrical current for storage in the battery is developed by either a generator or an alternator, driven by a fan belt. It works only when the car's engine is running. Older cars had a generator which produced direct current (d.c.) while most cars manufactured today are equipped with alternators.
An alternator supplies alternating current (a.c.), then converts it to d.c. before sending it to the battery. Alternators replaced generators because they can produce more current for the battery at the low engine speeds encountered in city driving.

If your battery needs to be recharged BIG 4
CHEVROLET COMPANY asks you consider us.
We have 24 hour drop off and after hours delivery.
Call us at 345-5444 or visit 1820 Vandalia St. in Collinsville. We are open Monday thru Friday 7-6 and welcome service for all car owners no matter where purchased.

AUTO TIP:
If headlights get noticeable brighter when engine speed is increased, the car may be generator equipped.

How we improved the 1980 Rabbit Diesel:

Introducing the 1981 Rabbit Diesel.

We never seem to just let well enough alone. Our 1981 model actually has an engine that's even bigger than last year's. Which means you'll get a more powerful car, with better acceleration and passing power. Plus the kind of astonishing mileage and superb comfort our Rabbit tempted you with last year. In fact, EPA estimated 32 mpg, 56 mpg highway estimate (Use estimated mpg. for comparison. Mpg varies with speed, trip length, weather. Actual highway mpg will probably be less.)

New law alters farm valuations

Governor James R. Thompson signed compromise legislation Tuesday revising the method by which farm land is assessed in Illinois.

"This bill represents many months of hard work by the legislature, farm groups and State Department of Revenue. It will help offset previous legislation that would have dealt a heavy property tax blow to farmers across the state," Thompson said.

"This new formula is a step forward in assessing farm land on the basis of income rather than on the rapidly rising market value of land."

Tax return on large trucks due Aug. 31

Owners of most large trucks, tractor-trailers or buses must file a Federal Use Tax Return for Highway Motor Vehicles by Aug. 31, the Internal Revenue Service says. The return is filed on Form 2290, available at any IRS office.

The tax year for the Highway Use Tax begins July 1, 1981, and runs through June 30, 1982. Taxpayers who place vehicles in service after July must have Form 2290 filed with the IRS Service Center which services their area by the last day of the month following the month a vehicle is first used on a public highway.

The Highway Use Tax applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more, 2-axle truck-trailers weighing 5,500 pounds or more pounds equipped for use in combinations, and buses with a gross weight of more than 26,000 pounds.

The tax is imposed on those vehicles using any public highways, city streets, state roads and interstate highways. Revenue from the tax helps states in financing the Interstate Highway System.

Form 2290 and the free IRS Publication 449, "Federal Highway Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-Trailers and Buses," can be ordered by calling the IRS forms-tax information number listed in the telephone directory.

which statistics are available—Economic value per acre of each grade of cropland, computed by dividing the net return for an acre by the five-year moving average of the Federal Land Bank farm land mortgage interest rate.

—Equalized assessed value per acre for each grade of soil, at one-third of the economic value.

—A proposed average equalized assessed value per acre, weighted by distribution of soil types.

—Average equalized assessed value per acre, weighted to consider the type of land use—croplands, pasture, etc.

These values, certified by the department, are to be used by local assessors in placing a value on farm land for property tax purposes, beginning next year.

For this year's assessments, the state is to certify a factor to each county to be applied to 1980 actual assessments. That factor will raise or lower the 1980 aggregate assessments to the countywide level required by this new formula.

However, when applied at the local level, the factor will not raise or lower the assessment of any farm by more than $30 an acre.

The bill also creates a technical advisory board to advise the Department of Revenue in implementation of the new law.

A local assessment review committee also is created for each county to advise local assessing officials in their implementation.

Senior community service employment

By TOMMYE WALTER

Helen Keith of Edwardsville has started back to work and has begun utilizing skills she hasn't really used since the late '30s at a time in her life when most people are seriously considering retirement.

Not only that, she looks forward to many more productive years in the job market.

Married most of her life, she was approaching 60 years of age when her marriage failed and she found it necessary to seek work.

Mrs. Keith had worked when she was younger as a nursing aide in hospital settings in a garment factory as an operator and as a beautician in her own home.

Faced with the necessity of finding a job at middle age and not having many business skills, Mrs. Keith felt she would first have to get some training. For a start, she took a refresher course in typing offered by Lewis and Clark Community College. "Things had changed so much since I went to school," she said.

Today, she is participating in the Senior Community Service Employment Program, a national project providing on-the-job training for people 55 and older who find it necessary to work.

The program is sponsored by the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons, and is funded by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Under that program, she is employed on a part-time basis as an office aide in the Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In the beginning, Mrs. Keith was not sure she had any value as an employee. The first day at work did little to bolster her spirits. "I felt so inadequate," she said.

The second day was much better. "They were so encouraging. I felt like one of the family," she added.

Mrs. Keith still feels the need to improve her office skills. This fall, she plans to take courses in speech communications and English composition.

"I have been thrown into so many meetings, I need to know something about public speaking," she said.

Mrs. Keith isn't interested in getting a college degree. She just wants to learn enough to do a good job.

She enjoys meeting people, particularly some of those she met participating in the Elderhostel Program held recently on the campus. Elderhostel allows senior citizens to enroll in as many as three non-credit courses a week on college and university campuses around the country.

"They showed me that being older doesn't mean you have to be useless," Mrs. Keith commented. As a rule, you think of older people sitting around in rocking chairs, getting old and decrepit. These people (Elderhostel students) get out and go.

"They really live their lives to the fullest. They aren't slowing down," she added. "They are doing all the things they have always wanted to do."

She believes that the AARP-NRTA-sponsored program provides an invaluable service to older people. "Most people don't want hand-outs. They want to work. This program gives them the chance," she said.

"It gives them back their self-respect, confidence in themselves, and the feeling they can make it."

In addition to her work at the university, she knits, crochets, sews all her own clothes and maintains a small garden. "Last night I went home after work and canned tomatoes," she said.

When U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon (D-Belleville) and Glenn Northup, national project director of the SIUE Office of Continuing Education, saw how things were working out, Mrs. Keith couldn't understand what all the fuss was all about.

"People have to have an interest in life," she said. "If they don't, they vegetate. Your mind is like anything else. If you don't use it, it will deteriorate."

Traffic project in Springfield

Governor James R. Thompson broke ground Monday for the beginning of the long-awaited Madison Street project in Springfield.

Construction of the roadway between Walnut and 2nd Streets marks the beginning of a major east-west corridor through Springfield and the culmination of 20 years of planning on the project. It will provide better access to Springfield's central business district and the new Illinois Department of Revenue center.

The new revenue center is under construction at a cost of $60 million. When completed in 1984, it will house 2,500 employees.

Ultimately, the $7 million project will provide for one-way eastbound traffic on Jefferson Street. They will be landscaped to beautify the new roadways.

The contract for work between Walnut and 2nd was awarded to Sankey Brothers, Inc., of Springfield on June 30 at a cost of $2,224,853. Work is expected to be complete by Oct. 31, 1982.

THIEVES STRIKE AGAIN

of Continuing Education; and Reba Klenke (seated), staff assistant, discuss senior citizens as an untapped resource for the nation's job market. Mrs. Keith participates in the on-the-job training program, which provides part-time employment for people 55 years or older.

Balen special education head

Steven Balen of Belleville was approved by the Granite City School Board Tuesday night as director of Madison County Special Education Region I, consisting of the Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts.

The Quad-City special education board interviewed four finalists for the director's job on July 31, and designated Balen as its choice Aug. 5.

He is to receive $26,500 a year, plus a retirement contribution of $1,855, plus the other fringe benefits granted to the Granite City school system's administrative staff.

Balen will begin his duties Aug. 24.

He will replace Larry R. Dew, who accepted a school administrative position in Missouri.

In another action affecting the special education region Tuesday night, the Granite City board ratified the employment of Mrs. Jeanette Hoedebecke as a secretary on the Region I staff.

Sandra G. Peterson, formerly an upper primary teacher at Nameoki School, was hired Tuesday night for the 1981-82 year as a Marshall School upper primary teacher. She is one of the faculty members who had been honorably dismissed by the board after the 1980-81 year due to enrollment reductions and financial constraints.

She will replace Carolyn Faulmer, who resigned effective Tuesday due to personal illness. The latter was a Granite City teacher for 16 years.

Randall A. Kmucha is resigning as a campus monitor at Granite City High School North to take other employment.

Katherine Tripp, 3019 Denver St., was employed as a secretary in the accounting department of the Granite City school district.

Gladys Zukas, 124 Wilson Park Lane, was hired as a secretary in the school cafeteria department.

Retiring are Angela M. Buehler from the Grigsby Junior High School cafeteria staff and Russell F. Johnson from the Grigsby custodial staff, the latter effective Sept. 18.

Mrs. Anita Eftimoff, a resource teacher currently working with gifted students, will present a paper on "The Granite City Special Education Resource Room Model for Gifted Education" at the International Conference for Gifted Education to be held in Montreal, Canada, Aug. 21-26.

The local portion of the Alternative School budget for 1981-82 will be $66,315 from the Granite City district, $9,710 from Madison schools and $4,855 from the Venice school system.

Also for the new school year, the Granite City board approved contracts with St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the Grigsby Hospital of Maryville for instruction in health occupations. The semester tuition cost per student for three hours of instruction a day will rise from $50 to $75.

CHILD HIT BY CAR

Two-year-old Richard Warren, 1424 Third St., Madison, escaped serious injury when he was struck by the auto of Marlin Griggs, 1014 College St., Madison, on Madison Avenue north of Third Street in Madison during the weekend. Griggs said he saw a girl holding the child's hand and the child attempted to pull free, so he slowed his car, which was almost at a stop when the child broke free and ran in front of the car, was struck and got up and ran away. He was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center after the incident.

11.6% average wage change

Major collective bargaining settlements reached in private industry during the first six months of 1981 provided wage adjustments averaging 11.3 percent for the first year of the contract, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

Over the life of these contracts, wage adjustments averaged 9.2 percent a year. The average wage adjustment when the same parties bargained previously was 9.5 percent in the first contract year and 8.0 percent over the life of the contract.

Settlement data exclude wage changes that may occur under cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) clauses.

Settlements reached during the first six months of 1981 covered 927,000 workers in 233 major collective bargaining units out of a total of 9.1 million workers in about 2,000 units included in the Bureau's collective bargaining series. Materials contracts covering at least 1,000 workers.

In addition to settlements, this release also reports on effective wage adjustments, which include current settlements, deferred wage changes specified in earlier settlements, COLA adjustments, and contracts providing for no wage adjustment in the period.

The highly publicized settlement in bituminous coal mining covered 17 percent of all workers under settlements reached during the first half of 1981, whereas, settlements in construction covered 42 percent. The average first-year wage adjustment in the construction industry of 13.0 percent compared to 19.1 percent in other industries pushed the overall average to 11.3 percent.

Contracts negotiated during the first six months of 1981 had an average duration of 31.2 months, the same as when the same parties previously bargained. Contract duration averaged 34.0 months in manufacturing, 35.1 months in non-manufacturing (excluding construction), and 26.2 months in construction.

The Bureau also measures compensation (wage and benefit cost) changes in settlements covering 5,000 workers or more. In the first six months of 1981, such settlements provided adjustments that averaged 11.4 percent in the first contract year and 10.0 percent annually over the life of the agreement.

Wage adjustments made during the first six months of 1981 resulted from (1) settlements reached during this period, (2) deferred increases paid under agreements negotiated in prior years, and (3) increases under COLA clauses. Approximately 5.9 million workers received pay increases averaging 6.4 percent, while 3.2 million workers had no wage change during this period. When prorated over all 9.1 million workers under major agreements, the wage adjustments put in effect averaged 4.0 percent during the 6-month period.

Apex Oil offer for Clark stock

Representatives of Apex Oil Company announced Monday that a wholly-owned subsidiary of Apex Oil commenced a cash tender offer on Aug. 7 for shares of Clark Oil & Refining Corporation at $37 net per share.

Wage adjustments made during the first six months of 1981 resulted from (1) settlements reached during this period, (2) deferred increases paid under agreements negotiated in prior years, and (3) increases under COLA clauses. Approximately 5.9 million workers received pay increases averaging 6.4 percent, while 3.2 million workers had no wage change during this period.

When prorated over all 9.1 million workers under major agreements, the wage adjustments put in effect averaged 4.0 percent during the 6-month period.

Apex, which already owns 9.9 percent of the outstanding shares of Clark Oil, announced Aug. 3 that it had acquired the right to purchase an additional 43.5 percent of the outstanding shares from certain members of the Clark and Dawes families.

Bill gives cities control of aggregate mining facilities

Governor James R. Thompson signed legislation last week that gives local governments greater control over the location and operation of aggregate mining facilities.

Thompson signed the measure during the Illinois State Fair's Local Officials Day.

"Local governments should exercise control over where mining operations are located in their counties," the governor said. "Just as the state has a responsibility to make sure that the operations are carried out in an environmentally safe manner, local governments must have the ability to see that these operations do not lower the quality of life for their people."

The measure provides that persons issued permits for the mining of such minerals as sand, gravel and fluor spar under the Illinois Environmental Protection Act also have to meet requirements contained in local laws. The measure does not apply to the mining of fossil fuels.

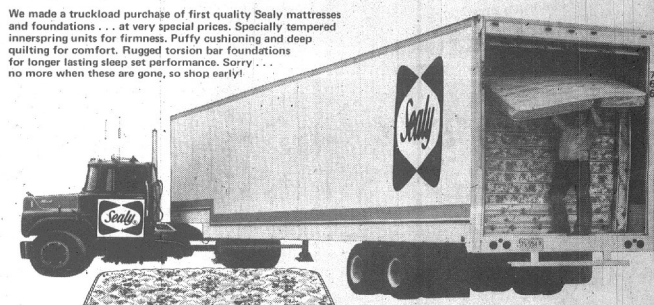

The legislation arose out of a 1978 court case in which an Appellate Court held that the state could pre-empt local zoning power.

House Bill 134 was sponsored by Representatives Richard Klemm, of Crystal Lake and Dennis Hastert, of Yorkville, and Senator Jack Achaffner, of Crystal Lake.

Area bridge closings in future could overload McKinley

In response to the MacArthur Bridge's closing, the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has developed a plan of alternate routes for motorists who regularly use the MacArthur Bridge.

Gateway Council studies show that most motorists using the MacArthur Bridge will find the Poplar Street Bridge to be their most convenient alternative. Traveling west from the Belleville and Centerville areas, motorists have the option of using two main routes: Illinois Route 15 (Missouri Avenue) and Illinois Route 13 (Bond Avenue).

Coming from the Cahokia area, motorists can reach the Poplar Street Bridge via Illinois Route 3. Upon crossing the bridge, exit ramps to Memorial Drive, I-55, I-70 and Ninth Street will provide access to the downtown area.

Traveling east from downtown, the nearest access ramps to the Poplar Street Bridge are Memorial Drive and I-55. To get to Belleville or Centerville, motorists should exit onto Fourth Street or Tudor Avenue. Motorists traveling south to Cahokia should exit onto Illinois Route 3.

Later traffic counts show that the bridge carries 4,800 vehicles a day. Computer simulations done by Gateway staff show that most of the motorists using the MacArthur Bridge will move to the Poplar Street Bridge. It is likely that the resulting increased congestion on the Poplar Street Bridge would cause further traffic shifts to the Eads and King bridges. While the short-term impact of the MacArthur Bridge closing should not be great, the long-term implications could be very serious.

The decision to close the MacArthur Bridge highlights the gravity of the problems surrounding the downtown Mississippi River crossings. According to a major study of downtown bridges which Gateway completed in March 1980, while the MacArthur Bridge shutdown was imminent, it could just as easily have been the King Bridge or the Eads Bridge. All three are suffering from extension physical deterioration and financial distress.

These problems stem from a marked imbalance in traffic volumes on the downtown bridge network. The Gateway study showed that more than 80 percent of the motorists crossing the Mississippi River at St. Louis used the Poplar Street Bridge. The Poplar Street Bridge is the newest of the five downtown bridges and the only one connected to major state and interstate highways.

The remaining four bridges — Eads, King, MacArthur and McKinley at Venice — were plagued with serious underuse, together carrying less than half of the total bridge traffic. Hardest hit by this underuse are those bridges which depend on toll revenues to cover costs.

Meanwhile, maintenance requirements and costs are growing at a much faster rate than revenues for sustaining operations. "The point to be emphasized," said Matt Melucci, executive director of the Gateway

Council, "is that at any time, the Eads and King bridges could also close because of unsafe conditions and/or a lack of money."

If this happens, traffic demand would tax the two remaining bridges — Poplar street and McKinley — far above their ability to carry traffic safely and efficiently. The two bridges will be overtaxed in the not-so-distant future even if all bridges remain in operation. Gateway's projections for a five-bridge network indicate that by 1995, the Poplar Street Bridge will carry about one-fourth more traffic above its design capacity; the McKinley will carry about a half more traffic above its design capacity.

Possibly even more alarming, if the King and Eads bridges close now, the Poplar Street and McKinley bridges would be barely capable of serving current rush-hour traffic, not to mention the amount generated by future growth.

In as few as 10 to 15 years, such a sizable traffic problem could cut off much-needed access between core communities on both sides of the river. "Such a situation could negatively impact any economic development activity in the region's core, good access being one of the most important stimulants to growth," Melucci said. The bridges' deteriorating condition coupled with a growing traffic problem threatens efforts not only to attract new industry to the area but also to retain existing businesses."

While bridge rehabilitation will be expensive, it is considerably cheaper than building a new bridge. Estimated rehabilitation costs stress the severity of the downtown bridge problems: depending on the degree of rehabilitation, costs range from about $15.5 million to $49.1 million.

Estimates for the MacArthur Bridge alone range from $7 million for the most limited degree of rehabilitation to almost $14 million for full rehabilitation. On the other hand, cost estimates for construction of a new bridge range from $126 to $155 million.

Gateway's Board of Directors in October 1980 recommended that the solution to the downtown bridge problems must begin with the formation of a Missouri-Illinois-St. Louis Bridge Commission to oversee bridge operations and maintenance. Placing all five bridges under the jurisdiction of a single interstate authority was viewed as the best way to ensure coordinated management and reliable financing procedures.

Specifically, the commission would have the power to:

Purchase or otherwise acquire, lease, rehabilitate, maintain and operate bridges across the Mississippi River at St. Louis;

Issue bonds, borrow money, receive grants and charge tolls.

Although appropriate enabling legislation to establish the commission failed in the Missouri State Senate last session, similar measures are planned for introduction in both the Missouri and Illinois state legislatures next session.

State's air quality improves, but GC particulates still rate highest

Air quality improved in 1980 in most parts of Illinois. However, unhealthy conditions still persist in several cities and industrial areas, according to a report released by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Readings from the state's air pollution monitors generally showed lower average and peak air pollutant concentrations in 1980 than occurred in previous years.

"We expect the air quality to continue to improve," said Dave Kolaz, manager, Ambient Air Section, Illinois EPA, "because of improving automotive and industrial air pollution controls. The air pollution data for the past several years shows a definite downward trend."

For the ninth year in a row the monitor measuring suspended particulate levels at 2001 East 20th Street in Granite City recorded the highest annual average in the state. The average concentration at the site, however, was 30 percent lower than the 1979 average. Similar improvements were recorded at other Granite City monitoring locations.

Blake Huff had the lowest average particulate level of 1981, however, 39 recorded annual averages above the health standard of 75 micrograms per cubic meters (ug-m3). Statewide particulate levels averaged 72 ug-m3 in 1980, down from 74 ug-m3 in 1979.

None of the 39 sulfur dioxide monitoring sites recorded annual averages in excess of the health standard of 0.03 parts per million (ppm). The monitoring site at 13th and Tudor in East St. Louis had the highest average, 0.024 ppm. Monitors in Des Plaines and Morton Grove registered the lowest levels, 0.003 ppm. Statewide, the average was 0.009 ppm in 1980; the average in 1979 was 0.012 ppm.

The 1980 year was the first year since the state began its air pollution warning system that no ozone yellow alerts were issued. The yellow stage is the second level in the state's four step warning system. Its purpose is to alert the public to high ozone readings and to order conservatin measures which will prevent air pollution from rising to the significant harm level.

Ozone, a pollutant which reaches its highest levels in sunny, warm and stagnant weather, found few opportunities in 1980 to reach high concentrations. The year's highest level, 0.17 ppm, recorded in Edwardsville and Moline and Marion.

Nitrogen dioxide levels dropped significantly in 1980. The highest annual average in 1980 was 0.060 ppm in Cicero compared to a 0.078 ppm level at the same site in 1979. Throughout the Chicago area, 30 percent of the monitoring sites had averages above the federal health standard of 0.05 ppm. In 1979 percent of the sites exceeded the standard.

Carbon monoxide ambient concentrations were also lower in 1980. Of two motor rate sites, one at 130 North LaSalle Street in Chicago and the other at 6th and Monroe Streets in Springfield recorded violations of the carbon monoxide health standard. The Chicago site and 29 excursions in 1980. There were 59 in 1979 and 84 in 1978 at the same site. Excursions in Springfield jumped from one in 1979 to seven in 1980.

The lead monitoring station at 15th and Madison Streets in Granite City recorded lead averages in two calendar quarters above the health standard. A lead standard violation, which popped up in Elgin in 1980 has since been discounted as being unrepresentative of the area's air quality. An air vent from a basement pistol firing range emitting a high concentration of lead a few feet away from a roof top lead monitor caused the high monitor readings.

Expect 116 pupils at Lutheran High

Metro East Lutheran High School will begin its first full school year in its new Edwardsville building later this month with an increased enrollment and expanded course offerings.

An enrollment of at least 116 students is expected, compared to last year's enrollment of 79, according to Principal William Heinicke. Classes begin Aug. 24.

The school was established and is operated by the Metro East Lutheran High School Association, an association of nine area Lutheran congregations.

The school opened in 1977 with a freshman class of 15 students. Each succeeding school year, an additional class was added and the school's first senior class — 14 students — was graduated in May.

Twelve of those graduates have been accepted for admission to colleges and universities, according to Heinicke.

He expects enrollments to continue to climb, projecting 150 students next year and an enrollment near the school's 175 capacity for the following year.

Beginning next year, expansion plans will likely be considered, he said.

The school had no permanent home until it moved to the new building on Center Grove Road last January.

Classes had been held at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Wood River for three years, and last year in facilities made available by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Concordia Lutheran Church in Granite City.

Construction of the new building will be completed with installation of the gymnasium floor before the start of school. The building also has seven classrooms and a lobby which can be used for instruction.

Most of the finishing work inside the building was provided by parent volunteers, Heinicke said.

New courses this year will include offerings in data processing, shorthand, geography and earth science. The school has eight full-time teachers and three part-time teachers.

All students are required to enroll in a religion course each semester, and the school has other requirements which go beyond state requirements, including a semester of typing and an extra year of mathematics.

The school has joined the newly formed Illini-Gateway athletic conference. Other members of the conference are Worden, Livingston, St. Henry's of Belleville, St. Paul's of Highland and Venice.

Metro East Lutheran competes in boys' soccer, basketball and baseball and girls' volleyball, softball and basketball.

Heinicke said he hopes the associations with the other schools in the conference will also lead to scholastic competitions.

Most of the school's students are from the Edwardsville-Collinsville area, with others from the Alton-Wood River area, the Quad-City area and other communities.

About 80 percent are from families which are members of the association's congregations.

Tuition for children of non-association families is $1,475. For children of association families, it is $950.

"What we offer is an education in a Christian environment," said Heinicke.

He said a growing number of parents seem to be interested in a Christian environment and the "structured" atmosphere of church-associated schools. However, the school does not consider an "escape island" from public schools, Heinicke said. "My judgment is that most of the problems of the public schools are also faced here."

"I'm thrilled with the quality and commitment of our staff and the togetherness and cooperation of the association congregations," said Heinicke, who became principal of the school last year.

"It's met all the expectations I had," he concluded.

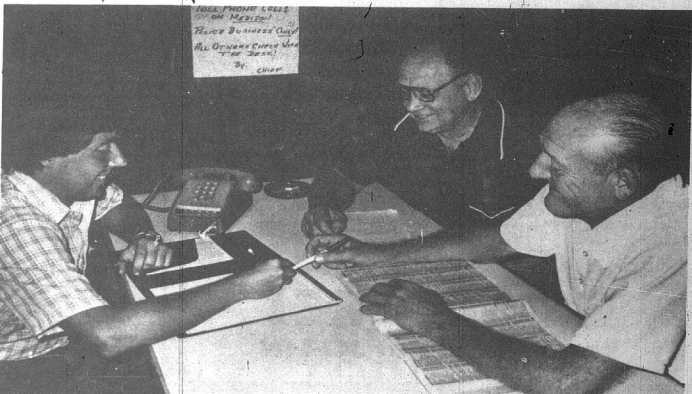

The school is still accepting applications for enrollment in the sophomore, junior and senior classes, but freshman enrollment is closed.

Application forms may be obtained by contacting the school.

State funds for Chicago buses

Governor James R. Thompson has approved nearly $82 million in public transportation grants for northeastern Illinois projects ranging from new buses throughout the area to continued rehabilitation work on the Chicago rapid transit system.

"It is essential that we preserve our public transportation facilities to prevent the kind of equipment breakdowns now affecting transit in New York and Boston," the governor said.

"The grants I have approved will improve transit and commuter railroad facilities and will upgrade the bus fleet."

"I am determined to do all that I can to assure the continuation of public transportation services to the more than one million people of northeastern Illinois dependent on such services every day."

"Including these grants, more than $164 million in state funds have been provided for such projects since I have been governor. The state funds in turn have provided the match to secure federal funds totaling $770 million."

The new projects are funded with federal transit funds of $73.4 million and $18.3 million in state funds. The state provides all of the matching funds needed to secure the federal grants.

Included are 200 new 50-passenger buses for the 2,400-bus Chicago fleet. Their cost is $30,900,000.

Rev. Sackett leads CF drive

"The voice of the St. Louis Cardinals," Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, has named the Rev. Chuck Sackett, chairman of CF Week in Pontoon Beach,

Rev. Sackett will be conducting a door-to-door drive this fall to raise funds which will support research and care for children affected by this leading genetic killer of young people.

Cystic fibrosis is a fatal lung and digestive disease affecting one of every 1,500 babies born in the United States. Both parents carry the recessive CF gene. One in 20 persons may be carriers without knowing it. With continued research, a test may be discovered to determine who the carriers of the CF gene are. At this point, 50 percent of the CF patients are living to enjoy their 18th birthday and beyond, due to improved therapy.

"We all have to help out, so that our contributions can continue to lengthen the lives of young people with CF. We will knock on every door and ask for help in the fight against CF," said Rev. Sackett.

$500 request sparks debate on Granite City fund crisis

"It seems ridiculous that in a city with a $10 million budget, we can't find $500 (to make a purchase)," Granite City Alderman Warren Decatur concluded after a lengthy debate of the city council to find funds to purchase a mosquito-spraying backpack unit.

City Inspector Emerald Dawes asked the council at its last meeting for permission to purchase a $539 backpack sprayer to assist his department in spraying for mosquitoes in the Nameoki Ditch and in areas where the regular Jeep-mounted mosquito sprayer cannot reach.

Dawes said there is serious concern of an outbreak of encephalitis in this area and literally millions of mosquitoes, which could carry the germs, are ready to turn from larvae to the adult stage. Legislation which would declare this area an emergency area for encephalitis is on Governor Thompson's desk now and there is a possibility that state funds could be available soon to repay the city for the purchase, Dawes said.

Alderman Paul Fisk noted that he, Dawes and representatives of the state Department of Public Health saw a demonstration of Nameoki Township's backpack unit last week at the Granite City sewage treatment plant and they were very impressed with the demonstration.

"You could see it working on the mosquito larvae. It did the job in the water itself and worked on the adult mosquitoes who were dropping everywhere," Fisk told the council.

Alderman Mac Warfield of the Sixth Ward said that in his ward, "We have an open ditch for three blocks (the Nameoki Ditch). When we sprayed it with the jeep, it got a flat tire and had to be left there. This thing is desperately needed. If we get one child bitten by a mosquito-carrying encephalitis, we'll wish we had gotten it."

There was general agreement among the aldermen that the backpack would be a good thing to have, but there were objections that the money was not available. Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, a member of the council's finance committee, said, "This deficit spending has got to stop. I think the department heads should make requests for what they have in their budgets. If they don't have the money, don't ask for it."

David Nolan, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler (the mayor was absent), stated, "As it stands now, there is no money to make capital expenditures. That's why the mayor made his order there would be no capital expenditures this year."

Alderman Sharon Perjak noted that the city has invested $400,000 in interest-bearing bank notes and asked why the city was investing money when it had to borrow $1.2 million to meet the bills through tax collection time this year.

Nolan said the note is to end Aug. 17, after which that money is committed to other bills.

Alderman Jake Varadian suggested the interest from that investment be used to purchase the backpack sprayer.

Earlier in the meeting, it had explained that the $400,000 which was not needed immediately had been invested in an interest-bearing note. Warfield asked, "who borrowed money to put in the bank and collect interest. Who invested it?" City Clerk Robert W. Stevens responded, "Only the treasurer can do any investing."

Warfield noted that City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, who has been on sick leave, has not been present to answer any of the council's questions on finance during all of the budget preparations and he requested that Petrillo be asked to attend the next meeting.

After it was pointed out that the city borrowed the money at 9 1/2 percent interest and it was invested at 14 percent interest, Schuman said jokingly, "Let's borrow more and invest it."

Alderman Mike Mordusic made a motion that the purchase request be referred to the finance committee for a recommendation at the next council meeting, but Dawes noted that the next meeting is not for two weeks and the majority of the mosquito spraying should be done during that period.

He said the ditches, Dobrey Slough, Circle Drive and standing water in many areas should be sprayed immediately before the mosquitoes reach their adult stage. "There are a tremendous number of places we can't get with a truck or jeep. That's where our mosquitoes are being raised. A tremendous amount of mosquitoes are being hatched," he added.

The council then decided to have the finance committee meet this week with the city clerk and authorize purchase of the backpack sprayer, if money can be found. Aldermen Paul Fisk and Carl Kittel voted against the motion, which passed 11-2.

Hearing on lock project

A post-authorization public meeting on the replacement of Lock and Dam No. 26 will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 9 at the Bel Air Hilton Hotel, Fourth and Washington in St. Louis. The meeting is scheduled for a 1 p.m. starting time.

The St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is holding the meeting to comply with the "direction" issued by the U.S. Court of Appeals. In the notice being circulated to interested parties, the Corps stresses that comments at the hearing will not address the issues that have been decided by the various court decisions or by the Congressional action, these issues include the pre-authorization cost-benefit analysis or the final environmental statement. Oral presentations will be limited to five minutes, but written statements may be submitted for inclusion in the official meeting record. Construction on the new dam was started in late 1979 following lengthy court actions. The new structure is located near Alton, Illinois, two miles downstream of the existing locks and dam. Congress has authorized the building of the new dam with one 1,200 foot lock and included provisions for possible future expansion. Fact sheets describing the project and presenting updated information will be available from the Corps District Office and at the meeting.

Madison girl wins 2 national titles

Ginger Booker, 12, of Madison, won the national title of Sunflower Miss in the 11 through 14 age group at Las Vegas, Nev., last week. The weeklong Sunflower Miss Pageant was presented at a Las Vegas hotel.

To mark her success in the pageant, Ginger received a crown, a banner and two large trophies.

The local girl also won first place in the Royal Miss Talent contest, staged in conjunction with the pageant, and was presented a second diamante tiara and trophy.

A talented singer, Ginger is the daughter of Mrs. Bobbie Booker, 1635 Market St., Madison.

She is a seventh grade pupil at St. Mary-St. Mark Parochial School in Madison. Ginger was awarded her first 1981 national title in July when she won first place in the National Regency Talent Pageant at the Marriott Hotel in St. Louis.

To attain the award, the youthful vocalist performed in the 11 to 14 age group at the advanced level.

She was eligible to take part in national competition at Las Vegas by becoming the Miss Illinois talent winner in a pageant at Hartford Recreational Center in May.

Ginger was sponsored on her trip to Las Vegas by the Madison Police Department, Madison Junior Service Club and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Page of Granite City.

The title winner sang last week during two services at Nameoki United Methodist Church on Pontoon Road and appeared recently in a concert to help raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Symphony Chrous auditions

Experienced, but not necessarily professional, singers with a musical background are needed for the 1981-82 season of the Saint Louis Symphony Chorus, which begins Sept. 10 with a performance of Beethoven's Symphony No. 9, the "Choral" symphony. Auditions for the Chorus will be held beginning at 6 p.m. Monday, Aug. 24, at Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington. Singers may call Powell Symphony Hall, 1-314-533-2500, to register for these auditions.

The Saint Louis Symphony Chorus is composed of approximately 150 singers who rehearse Tuesday evenings for performances with the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra at Powell Symphony Hall.

In addition to the Beethoven concert, the chorus also will perform on five other Symphony programs this season, including performances of Handel's "Messiah," Dvorak's "Stabat Mater" and Bach's Cantata No. 4, the "Easter Cantata."

Founded in 1975, the Saint Louis Symphony Chorus is directed by Thomas Peck, a nationally-recognized choral conductor. The chorus is one of only five professional choruses affiliated directly with major symphony orchestras in the United States. Milwaukee Sentinel music critic Lawrence B. Johnson has written that the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra "boasts one of the finest choruses anywhere."

In addition to performances in Powell Symphony Hall, the chorus has appeared with the orchestra on tour at Washington, D.C.'s Kennedy Center and Carnegie Hall in New York City. It has earned two Grammy nominations for its recordings with the Symphony, including the works of Rachmaninoff, Beethoven and Ravel.

Special swimmers 'splash'

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross has wound up another series of summer swimming instructions for the handicapped. The special swimming lessons are under the direction of Jo Higgins with the help of a team of volunteers.

Many returning students along with several new faces have been working very hard to learn the basics of swimming and water safety and some use the exercise as part of their daily physical therapy routine.

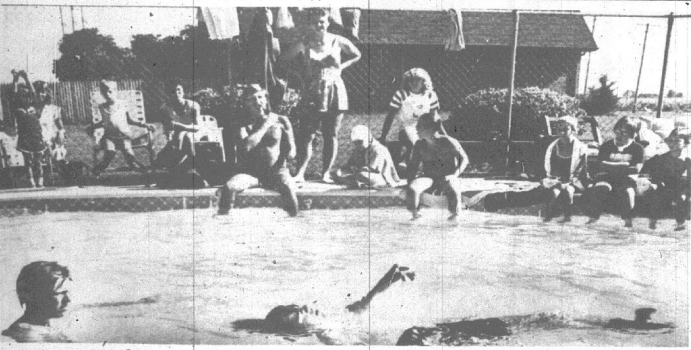

The classes are made possible through the generosity of the R.M. Bowler family whose swimming pool is used for the daily program.

Significant improvement was made this year by many of those who take advantage of the lessons. At the end of the summer program, awards were given not only to the students, but also to the many volunteers.

GREAT STRIDES

were made by many of those in the annual Tri-City Chapter of the Red Cross swimming instruction program. At top is Mike Cook being aided by two volunteers, as he floats. Below is the large crowd of volunteers, parents and others on hand for the award ceremony at the end of the summer program. At right, Darren Neimeyer displays his newly learned ability to enter the pool from his wheelchair with a minimum of help. Gail Voegel and Jerry Singleton assist him in the first two photos. At bottom, Neimeyer floats on his back without any assistance. Singleton, at left, stands by to aid the handicapped swimmer.

Big Red 'hafta have Hart'

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

ST. CHARLES — Jim Hart looks like anything BUT a football player when he's in his street clothes. But on the field, there's no mistaking it. He's in charge.

Hart, the All-Pro quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals, doesn't have the build of the stereotype football player. After 15 years in the National Football League, his walk has become a swagger. HE doesn't run well, but then, he never could domuch running.

Hart is the most important cog in the Cardinals' machine. He's the one who gets things done game after game year after year. But his time is running out. Fifteen years is a long time to quarterback in the NFL.

Once a free agent rookie out of Southern Illinois University who had to struggle to make the team, Hart is now the number one passer among active NFL quarterbacks. He's completed more passes for more yards and more touchdowns than any other quarterback now playing in the NFL. His stats are Hall of Fame caliber.

But his relationship with St. Louis fans has never been a totally good one. Despite leading the team to two division championships and mbeing named MVP in the entire league one season, St. Louis fans have never accepted him wholeheartedly. "It's a 'love-hate' relationship," said Hart. "It's the nature of the job. Every quarterback goes through it. Fans only know the outcome. They don't really know what might have caused a pass to be incomplete. It bothers me more not to be recognized by my own club."

Hart referred to his recent contract squabble with the Cardinals front office. He reported to camp late, finally settling for a 10 percent raise to $275,000. Technically, it was no raise at all, because 10 percent is standard in the NFL. He said the holdout was a matter of principle more than money.

Last season, Hart had the second-most productive season of his career, completing 53.6 percent of his passes for 2,946 yards and 16 touchdowns. "The management said it was a mediocre season," Hart said. But it doesn't seem to bother him that much.

"I'm not really a controversial person," he said. "I really don't enjoy being in the limelight and I like to think I choose my words carefully. Basically, I have no regrets about playing my career in St. Louis."

"There have been times during the hassles that I've said to myself, 'Why do I put up with all this?' But the times in my career I could have made a move, things were going pretty well here," he said, referring to the era when now-San Diego Charger coach Don Coryell guided the Cardinals during that period. The Cardinals were a powerhouse in the NFL and won two Eastern Division championships.

But off-the-field, Hart's been just about as active. In 1976, he was voted the NFL's Whizzer White Award for being the league's top humanitarian. There isn't a worthy cause in St. Louis that doesn't have Jim Hart's name associated with it. Just last spring, in fact, Hart spoke in Granite City at the YMCA on the merits of good sportsmanship.

Hart's seen them come and go — the quarterbacks who'd like to unseat him and become the team's number one signal caller. Charley Johnson. Pete Beathard. Terry Nofsinger. Gary Cuozzo. Some seasons, the Cardinals didn't know who their quarterback was going to be from one Sunday afternoon to the next Sunday afternoon. The others are all gone now. But Hart remains.

Smith carries on family tradition

GRANITE CITY — Young Bo Smith of St. Charles, Mo., won his first late model feature event Saturday night at the Tri-City Speedway in Granite City.

Smith, driving a 1981 Camaro with a Smith-built 355 C.I. Chevy engine and a Smith-built Camaro chassis, started in the fifth spot and took over the lead from Rob Jones on lap three and went all the way on the half-mile dirt track for the win. Smith, only 21-years-old, has been driving only three years and is looking like one of the long line of Smiths as his father, Tom Smith, competes against him to keep up the family racing greats.

Mark Haas won the feature for the street and another 5,000 penny pick-up for the kids from the stands (keep what they find), as they are scattered on the front straight-a-way and then given the green flag, along with the limited late model stock cars at street stock cars. Gates open at 6 p.m., races at 8 p.m. $4 for adults, $1 for children 6 to 12 years old.

SIUE adopts women's soccer

EDWARDSVILLE — Located in one of the best soccer regions in the nation, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has adopted women's soccer to its list of club sports for the 1981 season, according to Athletic Director Eldon Bigham.

The soccer club, which will be coached by SIUE women's track and field mentor Lori Stark, is expected to play a 10-game schedule in its initial season. Limited to players who are full-time students, either at the undergraduate or graduate levels, the club has already scheduled contests against Southeast Missouri State University, Florissant Valley Community College, Quincy College and a pair of games against Lindenwood College.

Being a club sport limits the squad to local games with minor university expenditures, according to Bigham. "The club will have no scholarships but will receive limited athletic funding for transportation," he said.

Following the women's soccer club with some equipment, uniforms, and some of the best soccer facilities in the area.

Try-outs for the first year club are set for Oct. 5, 6 and 7, on the SIUE campus. For further information about the upcoming season, those interested may contact Stark by calling (618) 692-2871.

Following the soccer club announcement, Bigham also announced that due to the tremendous interest in local independent long-distance road races, SIUE will no longer sponsor a varsity women's cross country team.

South cross country

GRANITE CITY — South's Cross Country team will have an organizational meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 18, at 10 a.m. at South's gym. All prospective runners should be there for the distribution of lockers. Important information will be given out also.

Practice will begin at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 19. Physical examinations for the boys will be given at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 18, at South's gym. Girls physicals will be given at a later date, according to Dr. Wilkins. A $5 fee should be paid at the time the physical is taken. All athletes must have a signed parent permission form and a physical before they can practice with the team.

Granite City South coach Gene Baker has announced that his team's first practice session will be Aug. 19 at 9 a.m. Prospective players should meet on the practice field with filled-out physical exam forms and parent permission slips, which are available in the office of either Granite City high school.

Volleyball to start

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South volleyball coach Wilma Schulze has announced that the first practice session for the coming season will be Wednesday, Aug. 19 at 9 a.m. in the school gym.

Physical examinations for volleyball players will be given by Dr. George Wilkins at the school on Tuesday, Aug. 18 at 5 p.m. Fees will be $5. All players must submit a signed parent permission form and physical examination form on the first day of practice. Both forms are available in the school office during regular business hours. South's season will get underway two weeks earlier than usual. The Warriors' first match of the season will be Thursday, Sept. 3 at Red Bud.

For the first time, the Warriors will travel to the prestigious Carbondale Invitational Tournament, to be held Saturday, Sept. 5 at the SIUE Arena in Carbondale. Annually, the tournament attracts the top volleyball teams from across the state.

South is the defending Gateway East and regional champion.

GC serviceman receives award

AET David H. Stoppkotte, a former Granite City resident, currently serving with the U.S. Navy at LeMoore Naval Air Station in California, received a certificate of accomplishment from the Chief of Naval Technical Training, presented by Commander F.A. NANTGD Oinc, bestowing the title of master training specialist upon the serviceman for exceptional dedication to duty and completion of the demanding requirements leading to the designation. Those requirements include a demonstration excellence in leadership, technical competence, application of instructional methodology, and the desire to improve Fleet Readiness through quality instruction. His recommendation reads in part, "Petty Officer Stoppkotte is an outstanding instructor in all respects. He is industrious, thorough and accurate in his work, and he strives to ensure only the most up to date information is utilized to stimulate his students. As a direct result of his superlative efforts, both Fleet Readiness and the Navy's overall strength in the Aviation Electrician Mate rating have been significantly improved. Stoppkotte is married to the former Deborah Hintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hintz of Granite City. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Stoppkotte also reside here. The service couple has a son Brian who is 3-years old and a 10-month old daughter, Beth. Petty Officer Stoppkotte is a 1968 graduate of Granite City High School and has served with the U.S. Navy for 12 years.

Mediterranean exercises

Navy Electrician's Mate Fireman Mack A. Watts, son of Jessie and Annie L. Watts, 201 Weaver St., Venice, has returned from a deployment to the Mediterranean Sea. He is a crewmember aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Nassau, homeported in Norfolk, Va. During the two-month cruise the ship became known as the "Harrier Carrier" for sailing with 20 Marine Corps AV-8 "Harrier" vertical take off and landing jets from Cherry Point, N.C. Shortly after joining the 6th Fleet, the ship took part in a major NATO exercise where the units operated with two U.S. carrier groups as well as Italian and Greek naval units. Nassau's deployment demonstrated the ability of the Navy to augment naval forces in any area of the world on short notice. Deploying with two "Harrier" squadrons, it also gave the Navy and Marine Corps an opportunity to evaluate the flexibility of the aircraft in the high tempo of operations with the carrier groups.
